THE SENTINEL, having double the circulation IN THE CITY, and more than treble OUT OF IT, of any other paper here, renders it far the cheapest and most desirable medium in Milwaukee for all classes of Advertisements.

News of the Morning.

Dispatches were received in Washington on Saturday stating that the forts in Charleston harbor would be taken in less than twenty-four hours.

Mr. CRITTENDEN's proposed amendment to the Constitution, restoring and extending the Missouri Compromise line to the Pacific, has been rejected by the committee of thirty-three.

It is stated that if the South Carolina postmasters should resign in a body, as expected, no mails will be made up for that benighted State.

The cloth warehouse of Messrs. BRANHALL, WHITE & LOCKWOOD, New York, was robbed of $5,000 worth of silk vestings on Sunday night.

Messrs. MCQUEEN, BOYCE, BONHAM, and ASHMORE, Representatives from South Carolina, have formally withdrawn from the House.

The Glenden Oil Mills and the old Glenden Iron Works, in East Boston, have been destroyed by fire. Loss $40,000.

Senator JOHNSON, of Tennessee, was burned in effigy at Memphis on Saturday evening.

Senator SEWARD made a speech at a banquet in New York, on Saturday, in which he predicted the secession excitement would all pass away in sixty days.

J. LUMSDEN & Co's tannery, at Nashville, Tenn., has been destroyed by fire. Loss $100,000.

An appeal has been made in the case of the fugitive slave ANDERSON, at Toronto.

Counterfeit fives on the Merchants Bank Bank of St. Louis have made their appearance.

Senator TOOMBS has written to his constituents a letter declaring they cannot get their constitutional rights at the hands of Republicans, and advising secession by the 4th of March.

The sheriff of Hamilton, C. W., has received orders to hang BROWN, the notorious burglar.

It is stated that a millionaire in New York, a Government Contractor in Washington, and a heavy house in Chicago, are implicated in BAILEY's fraud upon the Indian Trust Fund.

FRANK STIMSON, twenty-one years of age, committed suicide at Hamilton, C. W., yesterday.

Mr. Toombs in a Hurry.

Senator TOOMBS, of Georgia, after being three days in Washington, telegraphs peremptory orders to the people of his State to vote, unanimously, for secession. The reason Mr. TOOMBS assigns for this precipitate action is, that the Republicans refuse to submit to his dictatorial terms. We think the Republicans sound in so doing. And we trust that the people of Georgia, instead of listening to the insane counsels of Mr. TOOMBS, will patiently bide their time, and judge the Republicans, not by the mis-representations of their enemies, but by their own words and actions.

Chicago Academy of Science.

The Chicago Academy of Science have just had another of their pleasant and profitable excursions, in which friendly re-unions and social enjoyments are blended with scientific discussions and physical recreation. This time the members, with their ladies and guests went, by invitation, over the Michigan Central Railroad, to Ann Arbor, the seat of the Michigan State University, and of the Detroit Astronomical Observatory, in charge of Prof. F. BRUNNOW. Unfortunately, both the nights spent at Ann Arbor were cloudy, so that no opportunity was presented of seeing the magnificent telescope mounted there. This fine instrument, made by Mr. FITZ of New York city, is pronounced fully equal to any of those imported for other American observatories; and there are but two telescopes in the world that exceed it in size and power. This instrument, as well as all the others, with the building, was presented to the University by the citizens of Detroit, and hence this observatory bears the name of that city.

The University is in a very prosperous condition, having a numerous corps of instructors under the Chancellorship of Dr. H. P. TAPPAN, and a greater number of students than any institution in the United States, with the single exception of old Yale. These students come from twenty-three different States, from Maine to Mississippi and Alabama. Much of this prosperity is due to the energy and perseverance of President TAPPAN, seconded by an able and intelligent Board of Regents and corps of Professors.—It has its Literary, Law and Medical departments, all working harmoniously to promote the great cause of education. Upon the arrival of the excursionists at Ann Arbor, it was found that places had been assigned for each in the houses of the Professors and citizens, and carriages were in waiting ready to convey them to their temporary homes.—Every attention was extended to them that could be desired to render their visit both pleasant and profitable.

The first evening was spent in the Medical College, listening to Prof. DOUGLASS' explanations and experiments, by which electric sparks were made to pass through the air the heretofore unprecedented distance of eight inches; and by passing through a vacuum to resemble the beautiful and wonderful phenomena of the aurora borealis. The next day was occupied in an examination of the Museum, Library, Gallery of Arts, and the Observatory; the several Professors exhibiting and explaining such things as required explanations, and answering all questions with a readiness and suavity that showed their fitness for their position in more ways than one. The last evening was occupied by Prof. WINCHELL in explaining the geological formations and the wonderful mineral resources of the State of Michigan—the Copper, Iron, Coal, Salt, Gypsum, &c. Among these is a very highly bituminous shale, often mistaken for coal, found near Grand Traverse Bay, which promises to become valuable as a material for the manufacture of coal products.

This, the fifth excursion of the Chicago Academy of Science, will long be remembered as one of the pleasantest and most profitable they have had, for which much credit is due to the citizens of Ann Arbor; to the Michigan Central R. R. Co., for free passages both ways, and to Dr. RAUCH, who assumed the principal direction of the affair.

Among the invited guests, besides other distinguished persons, we noticed Mrs. REDFIELD, whose very valuable Zoological Charts adorn the walls of so many pleasant school rooms.

THE RECONSTRUCTED CABINET.—The Senate having confirmed Edward M. Stanton as Attorney-General, the Cabinet is therefore now constituted as follows:

Secretary of State—Jeremiah S. Black, of Pennsylvania. Vice Cass, resigned.

Secretary of Treasury—Philip F. Thomas, of Maryland. Vice Cobb, resigned.

Secretary of Interior—Jacob Thompson, of Mississippi.

Secretary of Navy—Isaac Toucey, of Connecticut.

Secretary of War—John B. Floyd, of Virginia.

Attorney General—Edward M. Stanton, of Pennsylvania. Vice Black promoted.

Postmaster General—Jacob Holt, of Kentucky.

THE CALICO BALL.—A grand Calico Ball for the benefit of the Chicago (Unitarian) Ministry at Large, will come off on the evening of Dec. 26th, at Bryan Hall, Chicago. It is requested that on this occasion the Floras will appear in the costume of "Nothing to Wear," or which is the same thing with them, in a calico dress, these calicoes after the ball, to be donated to the Ministry.—The gentlemen on this occasion are requested to appear in suits costing from $6 to $10. No white kids, white waistcoats, rigolettes, opera capes, diamonds, musk, or Jockey Club, will be allowed admission.

MASSACHUSETTS RAILROADS.—All, or nearly all, of the Massachusetts Railroads, have at last, by good management, been brought into a dividend paying condition. Notwithstanding the severe panic of the last few weeks, the stock of only two of the roads emanating from Boston, the Fitchburg and Eastern, have sold below par. With the exception of the Eastern they will pay semi-annual dividends upon the first of January.

FORT MOULTRIE.—Fort Moultrie was defended by four hundred and seventy-five men in the American Revolution. In nullification times, under President JACKSON, it contained eight hundred men; but now, when it should be made impregnable, the gallant commander has only sixty-four men to protect it against the assault of an excited and hostile State.

From Washington.

Special Dispatch to the N. Y. Tribune.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19, 1860.

The speech of Gov. Johnson, of Tenn., in the Senate, to day, was a most happy and powerful effort, and is spoken of very highly by all parties. Republican and Democratic Senators listened with marked attention, and, at one time, quite a number of members of the House were on the floor. He utterly denied the constitutional right of secession, and desired that the President should firmly carry out the laws, regardless of consequences.

Mr. Buchanan received a hard hit by being reminded of his celebrated Ostend manifesto. He argued with him, that self-preservation is the law of nations. If the peculiarity of the geographical position of Cuba made her a necessity for us, how much more so must that be the case with South Carolina. If the President had succeeded in buying Cuba for $200,000,000, as he at one time tried, and Cuba had become a State, she would have just as much right as South Carolina to secede and to return to Spain. Mr Lincoln having been elected, in accordance with the Constitution, he should be inaugurated.

All conservative men agree that it is the best speech which the Governor ever has made.

GEN. LANE.

A kind of disgust seemed to pervade the whole Senate Chamber, when Senator Lane of Oregon, having nothing more to gain or to lose within the Union, made a violent secession speech, asserting that the people of South Carolina were justified in going out, because his State-equality doctrine had not been adopted.

A BRILLIANT CONSUL.

The Austrian Consul at Charleston, S. C. having assured some of the leading seceders that the Emperor of Austria would acknowledge the independence of South Carolina, the Austrian Charge d'Affaires, Chevalier Hulseman, has immediately informed the gentleman, that his Majesty will hereafter try to get along without his valuable services.

SECRETARY THOMPSON'S MISSION.

Secretary Thompson's mission to North Carolina is falsely interpreted. I learn from a trustworthy source that the principal object is to induce the Southern States to co-operate in determining a course of policy to be pursued, if Mr. Lincoln or the Republican party should make an onslaught upon the rights of the South.

SENATOR DOUGLAS' SPEECH.

Senator Douglas will not speak immediately. He wants to await the actions of others. Should he now express his feelings as they are, he will have to stand the brunt of the battle, as his old enemies are still as bitter against him as before.

GEN. CASS.

Gen. Cass has been the subject of marked attention since his resignation. A large number of Senators, Representatives, and politicians of all parties, have called upon him to assure him of their gratification on account of the statesmanlike views which guided his recent action. The old gentleman being once more free, seems to enjoy his otium cum dignitate very much.

PRECAUTION.—The Chicago Tribune of yesterday contains the following, seasonable if not necessary, article:

ILLINOIS MILITIA.—We trust that Gov. Yates will not omit to recommend to the Legislature a re-organization of the Illinois militia under the provisions of the State Constitution—the enrollment to be commenced at the call of the executive. It may not be necessary to bring them into service; it probably will not be. But it is desirable to be in readiness to respond to any call from the President of the United States "to suppress insurrection or repel invasion," and it is especially desirable that all things be done decently and in order. In this country the law which the people have made is everything, and with the law firmly at their backs men have been accustomed to believe that they can do anything. All persons are equally interested in preserving the supremacy of the law, and the Northwest, threatened with deprivation of her great channel of commerce, is peculiarly interested. If it shall become necessary for us, in the words of Mr. Vallandigham, of Ohio, to "cleave our way to the ocean with the sword," let it be done under the forms of legal enactment.

TWO MURDERERS SENTENCED.—Hangemann and McEnroe, the Holstein and Dunston murderers, were brought in the Circuit Court yesterday morning to receive their sentence. In Hangemann's case, his Honor Judge Manniere said, that the jury had fixed his sentence, and that he coincided fully with the jury in finding a verdict of manslaughter, and in giving him fifteen years he thought the jury had dealt very mercifully with him.

McEnroe was then brought into Court with his hands tied behind him, howling piteously, "Untie my hands." His counsel moved for a commission of lunacy. His Honor intimated that he could not say that he tho't the man was insane, and he believed that the jury was of about the same opinion. They evidently did not wish to convict him of murder for fear that he might yet turn out to be insane, neither did they wish to acquit him, as he might prove sane. From all that he could learn, he did not wish to change the verdict. He sentenced the prisoner to five years in the Penitentiary, and thirty days of every year to be in solitary confinement.—Chicago Democrat of yesterday.

A WARNING VOICE FROM FLORIDA.—The Tallahassee Sentinel concludes a long article with this salutary counsel to the fire-eaters:

"Many excellent and good citizens will favor Florida's seceding alone, but we cannot think that they have duly or rightly considered the nature and consequence of the step. Once taken, it can never be retraced, and should it prove, as we believe it will, a false one, the consequences will long be felt. But we do sincerely hope that our fellow-citizens will weigh this matter well, and that the conservative mass of the people, not blinded by passion or animosity towards any party or section, will put it down by casting their votes for members to the coming Convention opposed to so mad and ruinous a measure."

Trade and Commerce of Milwaukee.

On the first of January we shall publish a full and accurate statement of the trade, commerce and general business of Milwaukee, for the year just closing, embracing comparative statistics of our grain trade for fifteen years, carefully compiled from official sources; and also an exhibit of the total exports of flour and grain from all the ports in Wisconsin during the past season of navigation. It will also be printed in pamphlet form for subscribers, and any firm taking ten copies, or more, can have their card printed on the covers of the number for which they subscribe, without additional charge. This will be a good document to circulate, and as we are desirous that the extent of the trade of our city should be known abroad, we shall furnish the pamphlet to subscribers at a very moderate cost. Orders may be left at the Counting Room of the SENTINEL office.

Merry Christmas.

Merry Christmas to all! What a crisp antique relish there is in the salutation. It smells frosty, and has the glow of huge fires; it tells of ample dinners and cheerful home circles; of free lunches and flying corks; of turkeys brown and reeking; of gas lighted parlors filled with festivity; of pleasant nut crackings and apple parings; of monstrous Christmas trees dropping saccharine riches; of infantile choruses; of crying babies made of Indian rubber; of sevres vases and CHICKERING's grand action, gummy with candy; of long stockings that we used to pin up by the old fireplace, and wonder how SANTA CLAUS ever got through the soot; of boisterous sleighing parties, when snow was a holiday fashion; of skating parties, and what not.

The very breath of Christmas has as many spices as ever came on the sea zephyr from Ceylon. Everybody ought to shake hands—metaphorically at least—to-day.—Fingers that have been clutched all the year should be shook out—arms that are wearied with labor should be rested, pinched faces should be puffed out with a merry rotundity; little feet that drop music about your household, should have an extra note today. All the sour, crusty old dogs who live on vinegar ought to be shook up, all the old bachelors should be serenaded all day with tin whistles, tin trumpets, drums, and articulating dogs and horses. The whole Christian World should cover up its sackcloth and put its ashes in the proper receptacle. MERRY—mark you—MERRY Christmas, do you know what it means? If you are an Englishman, you have a recollection of carols and pantomines and Christmas boxes and gigantic plum puddings, you understand it. Merry, is the word. Yule logs will burn as well in this century as in the last.

It's positively imperative that you should be merry, if God has not set a seal on your house, and the destroying angel has not overshadowed your family altar. The Day is the Almighty's present to man. Every hour in it is sacred to Christian enjoyment. The beautiful superstition of our ancestors made the world safe from evil spirits on Christmas, and if we enjoy it as we should the superstition is not only beautiful, but orthodox.

We repeat it, "Merry." The old globe itself takes an extra turn, for ought we know Childhood will be set to poetry. Religion becomes an anthem of joy. Mankind may taste a little of Millenium—on Merry Christmas. Who of us can lift the veil of the future; who has the glass that shall discern the circumstances on the dim shores of the months to come? None of us. But in the sunshine of to-day our hearts may be glad, and we can throw the benison of "many MERRY CHRISTMASSES" ahead; and gladness and kindness shall invigorate us for the round of another year.

GRAND BALL TO-NIGHT—OPENING OF BIRCHARD'S HALL.—A grand ball will be given this evening (Christmas night) by the Milwaukee Independent Turners' Association, at the new and splendid Hall of HARVEY BIRCHARD, on Spring street. The arrangements for this ball are of the most extensive character. In the centre of the Hall there will be a large Christmas tree, loaded with prizes to be distributed to the holders of tickets (ten cents each.) BACH's full band will be in attendance, and the Turners will give an exhibition of their gymnastic skill. Tickets one dollar. Ladies free.—Supper 50 cents extra.

VIOLATION OF THE GAME LAW.—On Saturday Mr. FREIHUBER was arrested on the street, for attempting to sell a number of quails, which he had in a bag, covered with shavings. He was arraigned and fined $2 apiece for the birds and costs, making over $14.

It behooves people to be careful how they violate the game law; there are men constantly on the watch for any violation, and the least infringment can hardly escape punishment.

CHAMPAGNE FOR THE HOLIDAYS.—Those who are fond of champagne, will find at LEDYARD's Family Grocery Store, on East Water street, a new and superior brand, "the Prince Imperial," imported by E. V. HAUGHWOUT & Co., N. Y., and sold only by J. W. LEDYARD, in this city. Housekeepers and others will find there the best stock of family groceries, wines, liquors and cigars in our city.

OYSTERS.—H. COOK, at BLANCHARD's, Ross' Block, West Water Street, is selling oysters about as fast as he can get them.—He supplies the genuine Baltimorean bivalves—in can or keg—warranted fresh in quality and mammoth in size. West-siders please take notice.

PERSONAL.—Our excellent Bank Comptroller, Mr. G. VAN STEENWYK, was in town yesterday, on business. He has made many friends by the faithful manner in which he has discharged his responsible duties.

A TURKEY FOR CHRISTMAS.—Mr. HAACK, who has just opened a new market on Mason Street, three doors east of Main, sends us a turkey for Christmas. If it be a fair sample of his wares, the poultry offered at his market must be of the best.

CHRISTMAS DAY.

The old church bells are ringing,
A thousand memories bringing
Of the time long past away!
Of dear ones—ours no longer,
But who, with love made stronger,
Look down on us to-day.

Go we, and humbly praying,
Our Savior's precept saying:
"O, God! be we forgiven,
As we forgive each wronger;"
And those in love made stronger,
Will hear us up in Heaven.

Pray we for one another—
For Lazarus, our brother—
For Dives, our rich neighbor.
Pray that the weak grow stronger—
Pray that strong no longer
Keep from his proper labor.

There's work in the great city,
For tenderest love and pity,
To-day, to-night, to-morrow:
Neglect the work no longer.
Each hour the wrong grows stronger
In bitterness and sorrow.

Hold not the hand from giving;
Think not there's any living
Beneath thy care, O, brother!
To-day, be sure the teaching
Of Christ be more than preaching—
Do good to one another!

A SILVER WEDDING.—The twenty fifth anniversary of the wedding of one of our prominent citizens was appropriately celebrated on Saturday evening last. A large party assembled, in honor of the occasion, at the spacious and elegant mansion of the happy couple. The ladies looked their best; the music was excellent; a sumptuous repast tempted and gratified appetite; the gentlemen made themselves vastly agreeable; dancing commenced early and proceeded merrily until nearly midnight; but no Cinderella lost her glass slipper by being a minute too late. The midnight chimes found all the company dispersed, after a most agreeable evening.—A memorable feature of the affair was the gift of the husband to the wife, of $100,000 worth of property, in honor of their "Silver Wedding." May they both live to celebrate their "Golden Wedding."

A NEW COMER.—We copy from the Poughkeepsie Eagle, (N. Y.) of Dec. 20th, the following handsome notice of a young gentleman who has just sought a new home in our city:

"We learn that B. Platt Carpenter, Esq., of this city, has removed to Milwaukee, with the intention of pursuing the profession of law in that city.

He was elected, when barely twenty-one, District Attorney of Dutchess county; he was also Corporation Attorney of the city of Poughkeepsie. Mr. C. leaves behind him a high reputation as a zealous and successful public prosecutor, and a stern defender of public justice. He also leaves a dominant political party, that has never hesitated to show him high marks of esteem. Above all, he leaves hosts of friends and relatives, who entertain a high regard for him, and wish him all the success which his experience, his talents, and his superior classical and legal education promise for him in his new field of professional labor."

MUNICIPAL COURT.—Wm. Rooney, drunk and disorderly, arrested by officers Dusold and Webber, found guilty and fined $5 and costs. Paid.

Mary Kanelly, larceny of woolen hood, of the value of 75 cents. Plead not guilty, waived jury and trial proceeded. Found guilty and sentenced to imprisonment in the county jail for 10 days, and pay costs of prosecution, or stand committed till paid.

Thos. Plankinton, assault and battery, fined $5 and costs.

The jury in the case of the State against John Hoffer, went out on Thursday afternoon, came in at half-past 9 o'clock yesterday morning, and by their foreman stated that they were unable to agree and were thereupon discharged. He was required to renew his bail in the sum of $1,500.

CHILDREN'S CHRISTMAS EVE FESTIVAL.—The children of the Spring Street M. E. Church enjoyed themselves very much last evening at a festival given at Bowman's Hall by the ladies and gentlemen of that Church. We looked in upon them a few minutes and found them in a high state of delectation over apples, candies and ice cream.

There were a number of articles exposed for sale, the proceeds of which were to be appropriated for a Sunday School Library. The festival, under the care of Mr. JUDSON and the ladies of the Spring Street Church, was a very happy and successful affair.

CUSHMAN'S ENTERTAINMENT.—The inimitable American vocalist, humorist and mimic, LEGRAND CUSHMAN will give one of his entertainments to-morrow (Wednesday) evening, at Albany Hall—songs, readings, delineations of character, humorous and pathetic, and will be assisted by eminent talent male and female.

This entertainment is for the benefit of the Kansas Relief Fund, and any articles suited to the wants of the sufferers will be taken at the door for admission. Mr. CUSHMAN's fame has preceded him, and we doubt not a full house will be present to hear and see.

MILWAUKEE ART UNION.—S. M. BROOKES has taken the rooms No. 7 Newhall House, one door south of the entrance, for the exhibition of his Paintings designed for subscribers to the Art Union.

The Paintings are now on exhibition there, where they may be visited during the day or evening. They are well worth looking at as specimens of the fine arts, whether persons subscribe or not.

CHRISTMAS NIGHT BALL.—The new Hall in BIRCHARD's elegant Block, on Spring street, Fourth Ward, is to be inaugurated to-night. The ball will be a handsome one, and promises to be well attended. See advertisement.

THEATRE NEXT WEEK.—We understand that the "Academy of Music" will be opened on Monday evening next, by a very good Theatrical Company from New York and Cincinnati. The management is in competent hands, and the venture, we hope, will prove successful.

FOUND DEAD.—JOHN STEINFORT, a German, was found dead in the house of CATHARINE KLUM, on Walker's Addition, yesterday, where he had died the night previous. STEINFORT was a vagrant and addicted to intemperance. An inquest was held on his remains, and a verdict rendered in accordance with the facts.

SOCIAL HOP.—Liberty Hose Company No. 2, one of the ornaments of our Fire Department, give another Social Hop, at Sivyer's Hall, Main street, on Wednesday evening next. Mr. W. H. HOLLAND, the efficient Foreman of the Company, takes care that these "Hops" pass of pleasantly.

EGG NOG AND MONUMENTALS.—In honor of the Day, "CHET ALLEN," at his saloon on Main street, opposite Young's Block, will serve up "Egg Nog" and pickled "Monumentals," this morning.

NO PAPER TO-MORROW.—This being Christmas Day and all hands in the SENTINEL Office intending to observe it, no paper will be issued to-morrow morning.

E. SCHLAEGER, commission merchant, 308 West Water street, has a card in this morning's paper. He offers for sale wheat, rye, buckwheat flour, oats, onions, cabbage, &c. Read his advertisement.

SEAMLESS GRAIN BAGS.—In our columns will be found an advertisement of JAMES H. CHILD & Co.'s Seamless Grain Bag Factory at Pittsburg, Pa., to which the attention of merchants, millers and others is directed.

THE UNION IS SAFE, and JAMES HATH is on hand with his usual supply of unrivalled Confectionery for the holidays. Now is the time to gladden the hearts of the children with a box of these unsurpassed goodies, and at prices that defy competition—25 cts. a pound, or five pounds for $1. DR. RICHARDSON'S SHERRY WINE BITTERS.—In 1808, Dr. Nathan Richardson, a physician residing in South Reading, Mass., discovered, and proved in his extensive practice in that place and neighboring towns, the beneficial effects of the medicine now given to the world as the Sherry Wine Bitters. The success of Dr. Richardson's practice becoming heralded throughout the New England States, his business so increased that he was soon compelled to relinquish the visiting system, and establish offices in different parts of the State, where, on stated days, he met his patients. Sunday was the only day that he could be found at home, and many of the present inhabitants of South Reading, will well remember the throng of carriages that always surrounded his house on the Sabbath.
The present proprietor, Dr. S. O. Richardson, (son of the late Dr. Nathan Richardson) a graduate of the New Hampshire Medical College, where he received his degrees with usual honor, and also a member of the Medical Society of Boston, for the purpose of relieving his aged and honored parent from his arduous duties, was induced to relinquish his valuable practice in the city of Boston, to superintend the manufacture of this medicine, as it required great skill and accuracy in its preparing.
The Sherry Wine Bitters are for sale by Greene & Button, John H. Tesch, C. H. Gardiner & Co., Lafayette Lake, and druggists generally in Milwaukee and the State. dec18j980d1awkwlm

DIETETIC.—Many people have a prejudice against Saleratus, thinking, and with reason too, that this preparation is unhealthful, and ought to be avoided; but the best chemists and most learned physicians say, that Saleratus free from impurities, is not only not unhealthful and provocative of dyspepsia, but that it, in reality, promotes digestion and strengthens the digestive organs. A new process of refining this article, lately introduced, and is used only by De Land & Co., of the Fairport Chemical Works, Fairport, Monroe Co., N. Y., enables them to make a perfectly pure Saleratus, which should at once be used in every household. The pure and reliable quality of De Land & Co's Saleratus should make it immediately popular. It is for sale by most grocers and storekeepers, and the grocers in large towns and villages wholesale it.

DIED:

In Leeds, Columbia County, Dec. 15th, very suddenly, and in the joyous hope of blissful immortality, Mrs. ELIZABETH, wife of SYLVESTER DUTTON, Esq., aged forty-two years.

No! No! not dead. Thy race below is run,
Yet life is but Eternity begun,
And thou hast mounted to a happier sphere,
With harp in hand, an angel to appear,
Before thy Father's throne.

And yet in heartfelt agony we weep,
Since thou hast sunk into thy dreamless sleep;
For we do miss thee from our sad, sad home,
And long in vain for thy loved form to come:
Without the earth is drear.

In this city, Sunday morning, Dec. 23d, at 7 o'clock, of dyptheria, IDA FRANCIS, twin daughter of T. J. and ABBY S. SALSMAN, aged 4 years, 9 months and 17 days.

Funeral from their residence, 185 Wisconsin street, Tuesday, Dec. 25th, at 10 o'clock A. M. Relations and friends are invited to attend.

Fold her, Dear Saviour! in thine arms,
And let her henceforth be
A messenger of love between
Our stricken hearts and thee.

TUESDAY MORNING, DEC. 25, 1860.

CHRISTMAS.

Some say, that ever 'gainst that season comes
Wherein our Saviour's birth is celebrated,
This bird of dawning singeth all night long:
And then, they say, no spirit dares stir abroad;
The nights are wholesome; then no planets strike,
No fairy takes, nor witch hath power to charm,
So hallow'd and so gracious is that time.

So sang the Sweet Bard of Avon of Christmas Time, more than two hundred and fifty years ago; and how many millions of human hearts have since attested the thrilling truth of this description. That hallowed and gracious season is again at hand; fraught with the tenderest and dearest memories of the past; full of social enjoyment for the present; and rich in hope for the future. Of all the days in the year, the one which appeals with the most irresistible force to every kindly sympathy, to every genial feeling, to every humane impulse, to childhood and manhood alike, is Christmas Day. God pity the man whose memory does not teem with fond recollections, whose heart does not kindle with warmer love, whose hand does not open with ready alacrity and whose faith does not glow with increased fervor, on Christmas Day!

As a Family Festival, Christmas is inestimably precious. Looking back through the long vista of years, how well we can recall each successive return of the ever welcome Anniversary, and the love-lit eyes, and love-fraught voices—too many of them, alas! now closed and silenced forever—that once welcomed us on that blessed morn. And, to-day, how many hearts will be made happy by the advent of Christmas. How many family groups, gathered once more under the old roof tree, will fondly remember the absent ones, and breathe a silent prayer for their welfare. How many little prattlers will be made glad by the unlooked for munificence of Santa Claus, the favorite saint in the juvenile calendar.

Christmas is precious, too, as a Social Festival. On this day, the voice of political controversy is hushed; the rivalries in business forgotten; the disappointments and losses and cares of our daily avocations are banished from the mind; misunderstandings, which may have occurred during the year from trivial or accidental causes, are explained away; friendships, that may have grown dull, are freshly renewed; we forget all causes of complaint, all matters of offence, in the past year's intercourse with our fellow-men. We remember only that it is Christmas Day, and that it is the day of all others for Gratitude to God, Good Will to Man.

In our social and family rejoicings, let us not forget that there are those among us to whom even Christmas brings no pleasure, unless some good Samaritan makes them partakers of his joy. There are the poor, the sick, the sorrowing; for whom no Christmas feast is spread; to whom no Christmas gifts are sent; in whose bleak abodes no yule log burns with ruddy and cheerful light. Let these be remembered in our thank-offerings to-day! So shall our Christmas be all the merrier.

The Patrons and Readers of the Sentinel claim from us a kindly remembrance on this hallowed day. For the sixteenth time, we tender them our heartfelt wishes for their health, happiness, and welfare. May a good Providence watch over them and their dwellings; prosper the work of their hands; guide and guard them through the pilgrimage of Life: and when the last hour comes—as come it must to all—waft them gently over the dark valley to the realms of bliss beyond.

Friends, Patrons, Readers! With a heart full of gratitude for abundant proofs of confidence and regard, we wish you, one and all, a Merry Christmas!

Can This be True?

We hear it confidently stated that Lieut. General Winfield Scott has lately prepared and voluntarily recommended to the President a matured plan of military campaign by which to coerce and subdue all acts of resistance to the federal government, which may be attempted by any of the Southern States. If this be true, it is a matter which should not be concealed from any of the people of the South, by their accredited agents at Washington. If it be untrue, certainly no harm can be done by relieving General Scott from an imputation of officious zeal for the shedding of Southern blood.

We respectfully submit to the Secretary of War, a distinguished and honorable citizen of Virginia, to our two Virginia Senators, and to each and all of our Representatives in Congress, that this is a subject concerning which the people of Virginia are entitled to public explanation.—Richmond Enquirer, Dec. 18th.

"The people of Virginia," as represented by the Richmond Enquirer, are a very modest and reasonable set of people. They not only require of President Buchanan, in this hour of National peril, that he shall fold his arms, shut his eyes, and remain an idle and indifferent spectator of the workings of the Secession plots; but they also demand that Lieut. General Scott—himself a native of the Old Dominion, but loyal always to the Constitution and the Union—shall imitate the President's passive attitude and, like him, ignore his duty and flinch from his post.

General Scott is not the man, at such a crisis, to shrink from doing his whole duty; even though it involves the painful necessity, if treason does its worst, of "shedding Southern blood." As the military adviser of the President and the General in command of the United States army, it was most natural and proper that he should have prepared and submitted "a plan of campaign" for the maintainance of the Union, the enforcement of the laws, and the defence of the property of the United States. Every lover of humanity and every true patriot fervently hopes that there will be no collision between the Federal and State authorities. But the possibility that one may occur, makes it the imperative duty of the Federal Government to be prepared for the event; and to that end, no doubt, the advice of Gen. Scott has been given.

Nor can the people of Virginia, or the Richmond Enquirer, complain of this; since scarcely a week ago the same Enquirer called upon that people to seize and hold Fort Monroe, the Navy Yard at Norfolk, and the Arsenal at Harper's Ferry; and summoned Maryland and Virginia, jointly, to prevent, by force, the inauguration of the duly and constitutionally elected President of the United States!

A Moderate Compromise.—Moderate Southern Democrats, who believe they represent an actual majority of that section in Congress, are prepared to compromise on an extension of the Missouri line to California, without a distinct recognition of Slavery south of it, but by throwing a bridge across which will allow an honorable transit. If accepted, they would come forward willingly to remove the obnoxious features of the Fugitive Slave Law, with the expection that the Northern States would respond in the same spirit by repealing Personal Liberty bills.

Humboldt's Library.—The N. Y. Post learns that our countryman, Henry Stevens has bought Humboldt's library, in Berlin, just as he left it. It was shipped from Hamburg to him in London the last week in November, in forty-eight cases. The catalogue consists of twelve thousand titles—about six thousand bound volumes, and the rest small books and pamphlets—Many of the books are very bulky and costly.

Inheriting a Fortune.—Gen. Harney, by decease of his wife recently in Paris, has come in possession, as the property of himself and children, of $5,000,000. He is a little rising fifty years old, and by much service and exposure, is somewhat broken in health. He is the fourth in list of our army officers—Scott, Wool, and Twiggs coming before him.

Well Put.

The Louisville Journal makes a good point when it says: "Last year, when the United States Marines captured John Brown and his fellow traitors, who had seized the United States Arsenal at Harper's Ferry, there were no objections raised to the employment of Federal troops. Now, when the United States Arsenal at Charleston is in the possession of private citizens, and Fort Moultrie is threatened with attack, it is argued that it would be tyranny and despotism to send Federal troops for their protection." The Journal might have found a more recent illustration of the same point. But a few weeks ago, a fugitive Judge from Kansas started the story that Montgomery, with several hundred desperadoes, was raging along the Missouri border, robbing, burning and murdering; and had proclaimed his purpose to invade the Southern States and liberate all the slaves. Instantly Gen. Harney was dispatched to the scene of action with several hundred United States troops with instructions to "exterminate" the outlaws. A brigade of St. Louis troops marched to the same destination. The whole expedition must have cost from fifty a to hundred thousand dollars.

Arrived at Fort Scott, the scene of the reported "outrages," Gen. Harney found everything quiet; nobody in arms against the Government; no outlaws; no thoughts of any "raid" upon the Southern States; nothing, in short, that required the presence of a single U. S. soldier. Mr. Buchanan was prompt enough in sending the Federal troops to defend Slave property and harass the people of Kansas; but he utterly refuses to send a single additional soldier to the ill-manned forts in Charleston harbor and has even, if the Telegraph speaks truth, ordered those forts to be surrendered to the South Carolina authorities, if attacked by them!

The Seward Programme.

We copy to-day the noted article of Thurlow Weed, and an endorsement of its terms by the Chicago Journal. We do not doubt that the Milwaukee Sentinel will note the same endorsement, and the papers throughout the North that are moved by the Seward influences will adopt the suggestions, and make them the basis of a political policy.—Madison Argus and Democrat.

Our Madison contemporary labors under a mistake. No "Seward Programme" has yet been announced. The "noted article" from the Albany Evening Journal embodied the individual views of Thurlow Weed—always entitled to consideration—but did not, in any manner, speak for Senator Seward. That gentleman will, no doubt, speak for himself in good time and in such plain terms that no man will be at a loss to understand his meaning.

T. W. Brown at Beaver Dam.

Correspondence of the Sentinel.

Beaver Dam, Dec 21, 1860.

Thursday night last, the Good Templars of this city celebrated the fourth anniversary of this institution at their Lodge. The address, on the occasion, was delivered by T. W. Brown, and was considered, by those who have heard him several times before, as one of his best efforts. The earnestness with which he enters into the work before him, the bitterness with which he denounces the rum traffic and all therein concerned, and the way he handles the friends of license, city councils, indifferent presses, pulpits, church members and people generally who are dead to this temperance cause, proves that he lectures not for money, popularity or fame, but for the good of mankind. His lecture here was timely, and has waked up the people much, and we trust will be the cause of much good in behalf of temperance in our place. We recommend him to the temperance public, and hope that he may be kept in the field lecturing constantly.

The cause of temperance is reviving in this place and vicinity. The Good Templars and Sons of Temperance are alive here, and many outside of these orders are moving. May the good work go on until drunkenness shall be driven from our midst.

B. F. ROGERS.

Mayor Wood Seceding from St. George's Church.

The New York correspondent of the Buffalo Commercial announces that Mayor Wood has seceded from St. George's Church, N. Y., on account of some caustic remarks about his Thanksgiving Proclamation, which the Rev. Mr. Tyng thought it his duty to make, in the course of his Thanksgiving sermon. The following correspondence is given, as having passed between the parties:

Mayor's Office, Dec. 5, 1860.

Rev. and Dear Sir:

Believing it the province of the Church to preach Christ crucified, and him only, and further believing that to political preaching most of the ills which at present afflict our unhappy country are directly traceable, you will excuse me for thus notifying you of my withdrawal from your pastoral ministrations at St. George's. Your reference to the Mayor's Proclamation, on Thanksgiving Day, were as unchristian as they were impertinent and uncalled for. Had I been present on the occasion, I should have deemed it a duty to resent them by leaving my pew, and taking the members of my family along with me. Hoping you will grow wise as you grow old,

I remain your obedient servant,

FERNANDO WOOD.

To Rev. Stephen A. Tyng, St. George's Stuyvesant Square.

REV. DR. TYNG TO MAYOR WOOD.

St. George's Rectory, Dec. 5.

Rev. Dr. Tyng's compliments to Mr. Fernando Wood, with his regrets that dislike of wholesome and deserved admonition, should have moved him to separate from the communion of the Saints. As it is, however, the Rector of St. George's cannot refrain from reiterating, on this occasion, an unshaken belief in the comfortable doctrine,—so often subscribed to by his friend, Mr. Wood,—that ——"while the lamp holds out to burn,

The vilest sinner may return."

Mr. F. Wood, Mayor's Office, City Hall, Park.

The writer to the Commercial proceeds as follows:

"At this point, it is said, the correspondence stopped,—but it is gratifying to learn that the Mayor, though he has forsaken the godly admonition of Dr. Tyng, is determined not to cut loose from the stated preaching of the Gospel. Day before yesterday he hired a pew in the fashionable quarter of Trinity Chapel, of which his bride to be, Miss Mills—daughter of the rich Front street grocer—is, I am happy to say, a constant attendant."

The "Stars and Stripes" at Fort Moultrie

Correspondence of the N. Y. Tribune.

Charleston, Dec. 16, 1860.

This morning I took my accustomed walk down to the Battery to make sure that all was right at Fort Moultrie. The stars and stripes conveyed the assurance. Nowhere else is our national flag to be seen, and amid the scenes and constant talk of treason, one feels a joyful interest in beholding it, as I now do, streaming against the sky, "with not one star dimmed, not one stripe erased," guarded, as I know it is, and will be to the last, by as gallant a band of men as ever breathed. For some reason or other, I have imbibed an interest for that little garrison at Fort Moultrie—an interest that, I persuade myself, will be shared by the whole country, as their situation and their treatment become known.

I wish the country might know really how much they have done to strengthen the position, how fully determined they have been, are, and will be to defend the country, as though they realized that with them in some sort was linked the fate of the Republic. Thus far, Moultrie's garrison has played no unimportant part in the Nullification Revolution, and is determined to play a part still more conspicuous. Therefore, I go down to the Battery—for Charleston has that which she calls by that ambitious title—every morning, to ——"See by the dawn's early light,

What so proudly we hailed as the twilight's last gleaming."

The Palmetto flag is everywhere. Scarcely a vessel comes or goes out of the harbor that does not carry it. Hardly one carries the American flag. This is the merest bravado in the world, for let one of the Palmetto flags come in sight of a national cruiser of any kind, and, if she does not show the stars and stripes, she will be taken as a piratical craft. The Palmetto flag can avail nothing at the moment when a flag can have any significance. I conclude that it will be a good while before these Charleston vessels can dispense with the stars and stripes.

Flunkeyism Justly Rebuked.—For once North and South are agreed. The Charleston Courier, of Friday, heads the dispatch relative to the Union Saving Meeting at Philadelphia: "The Philadelphia Union Humbug."

A VISIT FROM SANTA CLAUS.

'Twas the night before Christmas, when all thro' the house
Not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse;
The stockings were hung by the chimney with care,
In the hope that St. Nicholas soon would be there;
The children were nestled all snug in their beds,
While visions of sugar plums danced in their heads,
And mama in her kerchief, and I in my cap,
Had just settled our brains for a long Winter's nap;
When out on the lawn there rose such a clatter,
I sprang from my bed to see what was the matter.
Away to the window I flew like a flash,
Tore open the shutters and threw up the sash;
The moon on the breast of the new-fallen snow,
Gave the lustre of mid-day to objects below,
When, what to my wondering eye should appear,
But a miniature sleigh, and eight tiny reindeer;
With a little old driver so lively and quick,
I knew in a moment it must be Saint Nick.
More rapid than eagles his coursers they came,
And he whistled, and shouted, and called them by name,
Now, Dasher! now, Dancer! now, Prancer! now Vixen!
On, Comet! on, Cupid! on, Dunder and Blixen!
To the top of the porch! to the top of the wall!
Now dash away! dash away! dash away all!
As dry leaves before the hurricane fly
When they meet with an obstacle mount to the sky,
So up to the house-top the coursers they flew,
With the sleigh full of toys and Santa Claus too.
And then, in a twinkling, I heard on the roof,
The prancing and pawing of each little hoof;
As I drew in my head and was turning around,
Down the chimney St. Nicholas came with a bound.
He was dressed all in fur, from his head to his foot,
And his clothes were all tarnished with ashes and soot;
A bundle of toys was flung on his back,
And he looked like a pedlar just opening his pack;
His eyes, how they twinkled; his dimples, how merry;
His cheeks were like roses, his nose like a cherry;
His droll little mouth was drawn up like a bow,
And the beard of his chin was as white as the snow;
The stump of a pipe he held tight in his teeth,
And the smoke it encircled his head like a wreath;
He had a broad face and a little round belly,
That shook, when he laughed, like a bowl full of jelly.
He was chubby and plump, a right jolly old elf,
And I laughed, when I saw him, in spite of myself.
A wink of his eye, and a twist of his head,
Soon gave me to know I had nothing to dread;
He spoke not a word, but went straight to his work,
And filled all the stockings; then turned with a jerk,
And laying his finger aside of his nose,
And giving a nod, up the chimney he rose:
He sprang to his sleigh, to his team gave a whistle,
And away he flew like the down of a thistle;
But I heard him exclaim, ere he drove out of sight,
Merry Christmas to all, and to all a Good Night!

[Written for the Sentinel.]

THE CHRISTMAS PRESENT.

BY ADISON HUME.

A merry Christmas! Who does not know the feelings these words call up each year in the hearts of both old and young.

Everything in the house of Mrs. Carroll seemed to say, a merry Christmas! The warm dining room, covered with its thick, soft carpet, the table loaded with almost every conceivable luxury, the beautiful china dishes, the bright silver, and the snowy damask, on which they were spread, all spoke of plenty and affluence.

Enter the parlors, and the splendid pier glasses, the rich satin brocatelle, the costly drapery of the windows, the fine toned rose wood piano, and above all, the magnificent paintings, gave one the idea of taste and refinement; or it may be, what sometimes occupies their places, knowledge of their outward signs.

The servants of Mrs. Carroll are unusually busy, for this evening, this merry Christmas evening, there will be a party given at Mrs. Carroll's. Fashion and beauty, wealth and wit, will be fully represented, and will conspire to render the party complete.

Mrs. Carroll has never given one so large on any previous occasion, and she is nervously anxious, very much afraid their new servants will make some dreadful blunder, and it will be strange if he should not, for he has been told of a hundred things which he must be particular to attend to, and of as many more which he must be careful to avoid doing. He feels already confused, for, being the porter, he feels the awful responsibility of his office.

All things, however, appear to progress in a proper manner. Mrs. Carroll is dressed in her richest style; she is very brilliant and showy with her full dark eyes and blooming complexion. She possesses a fund of conversation concerning the topics of the day, and receives her guests cordially and handsomely.

The jewels sparkle as she moves around, the rich silk becomes her fine round figure. She looks like a queen. Mr. Carroll certainly made a judicious choice when he selected her for a wife. How would she appear in a simple cottage? How would she grace the farmer's dwelling, or the home of the man in merely comfortable circumstances, fond of study and thought, seclusion, domestic joys, the man of simple taste and quiet manners? Does she look like the woman who steals softly, gently by the side of the sick and the dying, into the cot of the poor and lonely, to make them feel as if they had received an angel's visit? Would they not feel rather as if they were gazed upon by the eyes of pride or scorn? In short, would she appear in place anywhere, but in the house of the proud and rich man, in the drawing room of the man of rank and fashion? She looks like a living piece of furniture of that great magnificent house. Mr. Carroll regards her this evening with peculiar delight; he even reflects back a little, a mental exercise not frequently practiced by him, but now he thinks he did well to choose her instead of that sentimental, confiding country girl. Certainly she had a tall, graceful figure, fine, dark, soft musing eyes; a voice soft and soothing, and a tread light as a fawn's. She was beautiful when and where I first saw her, (thought he,) standing on a little eminence beside a wild wood, near the bank of a gentle stream. As she stood there, she looked like a wood nymph, a real goddess of the forest, and when she started, half frightened at the sound of my footsteps, and as her face crimsoned when I came near, certainly I think her beauty was rare; yet she would ill befit this gay assembly; her retiring, shrinking nature, would not suit my station of life, and to night she would be altogether out of place and unhappy.

Thus Mr. Carroll sought to soothe his troubled mind, but his reflections were disturbed by the announcement of Mrs. Regencourt. Mr. Carroll started as she entered; there certainly was, or he fancied there was, a striking resemblance between her and the lady wood-nymph he was musing about.—She had the same soft, dark eye, the same graceful figure and manner. She is the acknowledged belle. Her beauty, talents and accomplishments are the admiration of all. She is a young and wealthy widow, but she might claim the hand of any gentleman she pleased. Mr. Carroll's feelings are becoming very unpleasant, and he is glad when the entertainments of the evening are fairly begun. Mrs Carroll is seated at the Piano and plays in a dashing, bold style, and sings with perfect self possession. Again Mr. Carroll thinks how well she fills her station. He congratulates himself upon his choice, much in the same manner as he would upon the selection of a piano. But no sooner does he begin again to feel self satisfied than his soothing thoughts are again disturbed, for the next person who is seated at the piano is Mrs. Regencourt. Her style of playing is quite different from Mrs. Carroll's. When she plays, one thinks of the music, and when she sings, one forgets the singer until she has finished; so lost does a person become in her rich, soul-melting voice. She was thus singing one of those touching songs of Moore when another and unexpected guest arrives. "A merry Christmas," was the sudden salutation of the stranger.

We will pause here and reflect that on this day many a home is dreary, and many a heart is sad. We will not look into the cot where the wife and mother is surrounded by her half clad, half-fed children; where the plenty that they behold around them, but mocks their own pinching want and wretchedness. We will not follow the houseless wanderer as she seeks relief from house to house. Cold and hunger and nakedness stand out in bold contrast to warmth and wealth, but there are sorrows of the heart which make cold and hunger and peril almost unfelt and unheeded.

Eunice Lee had no money except what she earned by her own exertions; but she possessed skill and taste as a needle-woman, and she wrote a free, elegant hand, and often obtained employment as a copyist. She thus contrived to live comfortably in a well furnished room with her little son—a beautiful boy of four summers. For him had she toiled, for him had she loved, and on him rested her last, only earthly joy. But now this Christmas evening, when so many hearts are merry, how does her heart sink within her as she watches beside his dying couch? She is alone. The calls no one to her, for who can soothe her anguish as she sees the last link, which bound her to life, broken? Her last prayer for her dying boy has gone up to heaven, and is unanswered. The last words which his infant lips uttered were: "Come with me, mother, for you will be alone when I am gone." But he has gone and left her. There he lies, cold and lifeless.

Oh! there are feelings that spring and thrive near other and kindred feelings, and there are some which are only born when others die like the worm which springs from and feeds upon decay. But judge not of the body by the worm that devours it, nor of the soul by the passions that spring up from its decayed hopes. Thus it was with Eunice Lee. Deeply had she been wronged; patiently had she endured that wrong; but now when the last star of hope had set, how dead seemed every passion of her soul—Neither hope nor joy, nor gratitude nor love remained to satisfy the longings of her heart. She seemed almost calm as she arose and looked upon the face of her dead boy. The thought of her own mother, who died when she was but a child, of her maiden aunt who adopted her, of the beautiful rich lady who was so long deciding between her and her little sister, but at last took the sister for her own child, and carried her—she knew not whither—for her aunt kept it a secret, because she thought the difference of the two children's stations would be a barrier to their future intercourse. Where was that sister now, or what was the name she bore, she knew not, neither did she seek to know, for why should she make her a companion of her shame.

"Dead," said she aloud, as she arose and looked again at her child; "and shall this body continue to live, and shall these hands still toil to nourish it when it feels within it no joy, no hope, nothing but a painful longing for the grave? Oh, that I could sleep beside my boy." Now are born the passions of decay—despair and revenge—two corroding worms springing from decayed hope and dead affection. A sudden thought darted through her mind, as she suddenly arose and took a miniature from a bureau. She had not looked upon it for a long, long time, not since she had discovered how false was the original; but now she looks upon it with an altered gaze, as she says, "False traitor to a true, confiding woman's heart, shall you revel in luxury and mirth, while the mother of your child is despised and neglected, dwelling in obscurity and sorrow? Shall the mother alone watch by the bed of your dying child, and alone attend him to the grave? Shall no pang of shame, repentence, or remorse reach his bosom?—If he has a conscience it shall be aroused.—The father shall at least once behold his offspring before it is consigned to its last resting place."

Hastily she dresses herself in her best attire; then approaching the bed whereon her child lies, she wraps its lifeless form in a clean covering, having previously dressed him in a white robe, and arranged his glossy hair in curls about his head.

That gentle mother, who but a few hours before watched so anxiously over him; who spoke with such tender accents; who trembled at the thought of his dying, now stands by him unmoved; and, being nerved to despair, she sets out to fulfill her design.—She who, from the time of her fall, had shrunk from observation, now cares not for the gaze of the fashionable and haughty, for her whole nature appears to have become changed.

The night is cold and the wind is piercing, but she heeds them not. The Pleiades and the Hyades, Orion with his sword, and the still more dazzling Sirius look down upon her, but she has no eyes for their beauties now. Merry voices are heard in many dwellings as she passes along; but they fall discordantly upon her ear and wake no echo in her soul. Dead was the burden she carried in her arms, and dead was every passion of her soul, but despair and revenge. As she hurries along but one thought fires itself in her mind. If he has any conscience it shall be awakened, if he has any shame it shall be revived. With these reflections she reaches the house of merriment. She rings the bell, and is met by the porter who enquires with whom she would speak. With a firm tone she replies:

"With your master. I have a present for him and must deliver it to him in person, and you will show me immediately into his presence."

The porter hesitated, when she rushed past him and entered the drawing room. There was a general look of surprise at the entrance of a stranger with so large a bundle. Mrs. Regencourt ceased singing and rose from the piano; and upon every face in that room, except two, was depicted blank astonishment. The face of Mrs. Carroll crimsoned, her eye flashed, but Eunice Lee, unmoved, approached Mr. Carroll and placing beside him on the sofa her bundle, said:

"Mr. Carroll accept a present from an old friend. It is a priceless jewel, which a few hours ago all your wealth could not have purchased;" and while she proceeded to undo it she continued, "it is not just that the father should not behold his own son."

A general exclamation of astonishment and horror ran through the company. Some prepared to depart, while others stayed to see the end of this strange tragedy. Mr. Carroll, stung with shame and dismay, hastily withdrew and left his wife to manage as best she might.

"This woman must be crazy," said Mrs. Carroll, "and the coroner must be notified to take charge of this dead body, for it is no business of Mr. Carroll's to look after such matters."

"Have you then forgotten me?" replied Eunice; "have five years really made so great a change that you have really lost all recollection of Eunice Lee? And, if so, do you not remember one who told you before your marriage that she was already allianced to Mr. Carroll? Here is his miniature; you can have it now. Perhaps you will prize it. I am resolved to disrobe myself of all valuable property this merry Christmas evening;" and, as she turned to leave, her eye shone with a strange unearthly fire. It was the passion born of hope decayed that lit her up with an unnatural light. Despair will now lead her to commit that rash act which leaves its perpetrator no time to repent if some kind hand is not extended—some soothing word spoken to prevent it. Mrs. Carroll would gladly have rid the house of her presence, and would not have cared whither she went; but Mrs. Regencourt remembered having heard that Mr. Carroll had been guilty of a little peccadillo, that Miss Fler (now Mrs. Carroll,) had been appealed to in vain by the betrayed young lady, and now Mrs. Carroll's heartless manner appeared odious to Mrs. Regencourt. She kindly took the stranger's hand, and turning to Mrs. Carroll, said:

"This person I do not know; but that she is in distress, is plain to us all. If we suffer her to depart, and she destroys herself, will not her blood be in some measure upon our heads? I behold in her a fallen sister, whose greatest fault, perhaps, has been a too fond and confiding heart. Let us not think we have nothing to do with such cases. I fear sometimes we do too much. Does woman think she shows her generosity by attaching all the blame to her own sex, while she smiles upon the seducer of the unsuspecting. If she frowns upon one, should she not much more frown upon the other also?

Instead of being generous, is she not rather selfish and unjust, and does she not encourage in the other sex a fearful laxity of morals? There is sometimes great guilt in a smile."

Harsh, reproachful words would only have strengthened Eunice Lee in her dreadful resolve; but the voice of kindness, so unexpectedly heard, and to which she had become so unused, completely unnerved her, and she fell fainting to the floor.

While endeavoring to restore her, Mrs. Regencourt observed a small miniature suspended around her neck. She examined it attentively for a moment, and became nearly as pale as her charge. But Eunice, although having recovered her consciousness, was in too critical a condition to be disturbed with questions. Her mind wandered, and Mrs. Regencourt hastened her into her carriage and conveyed her to her own house. During the night she raved incessantly. Sometimes she fancied herself watching by the side of her dying boy. Sometimes a more pleasing fancy for a short time, relieved her agonized mind, and she became a child again, wandering over her native hills with her little sister; then again she would fancy she heard the voice of her aunt calling her away, while a stranger snatched away her little sister; then she would call aloud:

"Jane! Jane! come back! come back! come back again! Oh! cruel aunt, to let her go!

Again, she fancied herself decked for the bridal altar, but, through deception, her lover mistakes another for her, and weds her.

She becomes more and more interesting to Mrs. Regencourt, for in her ravings she has left no doubt who she is, for Mrs. Regencourt has a miniature which exactly corresponds with the one on the stranger's neck.

The next day the composing draught which Eunice had taken, lulled her into a slumber, and it was thought her reason would return when she awoke.

Mrs. Regencourt sat watching beside the bed, holding the two miniatures in her hand when Eunice opened her eyes, and seeing them, exclaimed: "Who has my mother's picture besides me?"

"Her other daughter," said Mrs Regencourt, as she clasped her in her arms. "I am your little sister Jane."

"O, do not own me! forsaken, ruined, degraded, dishonored, that I am; let one die without disgracing you, but thanks to providence that you were sent to preserve me from the suicide's grave. But it was so dreadful to part with my boy." Here her mind began to wander, and she never more recovered her reason. She is now a raving maniac.

Ye fair, thoughtless creatures, who so generously overlook the errors of the other sex; who smile so blandly on their trifling sins, think ye that a man stung by the pangs of remorse will make a loving, true, and good husband?

And ye of the sterner sex, think that you can love a being to whom vice and and crime does not appear abhorent?

Mr. Carroll knows where and in what condition dwells the living monument of his cruel deception, and he sees daily before him the being whose smile allured him to his guilt. Are Mr. and Mrs. Carroll happy?

WHEREAS, THE MANITOWOC AND Mississippi Railroad Company, a Corporation duly constituted by the laws of the State of Wisconsin, did execute to the subscribers, on the first day of October, in the year A. D. 1856, a mortgage deed, whereby all their railroad, from its eastern termination in the village of Manitowoc, to the Fox river, at the village of Menasha, in the county of Winnebago, being forty-two miles in distance, constructed and to be constructed, together with all and singular the roadway and land procured or acquired, or to be procured or acquired, for rights of way within the limits aforesaid, together with all bridges, fences, privileges, rights, franchises, and real estate owned by said company for the purpose of said road, or which would be thereafter owned or acquired by the said company, within the limits aforesaid, and all the tolls, income, issue and profits to be had from the same, and all lands which were or should be used and occupied for depots or stations, or which should be thereafter procured therefor, with all the buildings standing, or which should be erected thereon, together with all locomotives, tenders, passenger cars, freight cars, shops, tools and machinery owned or thereafter acquired by the said company, and in any way belonging or appertaining to the said railroad constructed and to be constructed within the limits aforesaid, including all its property, real or personal, pertaining to said railroad, within said limits, and all its rights, credits and franchises thereunto belonging, were conveyed to the undersigned, to be held by them in trust for and as a security to the bondholders of said company, for the payment of the bonds of the company secured by said mortgage deed, and of the interest thereon as it should become due.

And whereas, by said mortgage deed it is provided that if said railroad company should fail, neglect or refuse to pay the principal sum, or any part thereof, or any of the interest on any of the bonds of said company secured by said mortgage deed, as any come when the same shall become due, and payable according to the tenor of said bonds, when demanded, then, at the expiration of sixty days from and after such default, failure, neglect or refusal, in case such principal or interest should then remain unpaid, the said trustees were authorized and directed by said mortgage deed, upon the written request of the holders of at least one-half of the said mortgage bonds issued under said mortgage deed then outstanding unpaid, to cause the said premises, real and personal estate, and property, rights and franchises, or so much thereof as should be necessary to pay and discharge the principal and interest of all the said mortgage bonds as should then be unpaid, to be sold at public auction, in the village of Manitowoc, in the State of Wisconsin aforesaid, or in the city of New York, on giving at least ninety day's previous notice of the time, place and terms of such sale, and of the real and personal property and estate, rights and franchises to be sold, by publishing the same in two newspapers of good circulation in each of the cities of Milwaukee and New York, in order to pay and discharge the principal and interest of the mortgage bonds aforesaid, and on such sale to execute and deliver to the purchaser or purchasers thereof a good and sufficient deed of conveyance in fee simple for the same, which will be a bar against the said railroad company, their successors and assigns, and all persons claiming under them, of all right, interest or claim of, in or to the said premises, real and personal estate and property, rights and franchises, or any part thereof.

And whereas, the interest that became due on the first day of October, 1857, upon all the bonds issued by said company secured by the mortgage deed aforesaid, amounting to the sum of three thousand one hundred and fifteen dollars, was not paid by said company, of which non-payment more than one-half of said bondholders have given the undersigned due and sufficient written notice, in full compliance with the conditions of said mortgage, and have required them to proceed to sell said property in order to pay the amount due them on said bonds.

Notice, therefore, is hereby given, that in pursuance of the authority in us vested by said mortgage deed, we will expose for sale at public auction, to the highest bidder, for cash in hand, or for the said outstanding mortgage bonds, or any of them, at the Merchants' Exchange, in the city of New York, on the 18th day of March, 1861, at 12 o'clock M. of that day, all and singular the Manitowoc and Mississippi railroad company, together with the privileges, rights, franchises, personal property and real estate of said company, with all the rights, privileges and benefits appertaining thereto, in order to pay off the indebtedness of said Company, to said bondholders, and the cost and expenses of this sale.

American Watches,

MADE BY THE

AMERICAN WATCH COMPANY,

AT WALTHAM, MASS.

Attention is invited to the following statement and the accompanying letters of recommendation and testimonials, in favor of these celebrated Watches.

A gold medal was awarded the Company by the American Institute at New York in 1857.

The Company also received the first premium—a gold medal from the Franklin Institute, Philadelphia, in 1859.

These Watches have now been in market for nearly ten years, during which time they have been tested as to accuracy, durability, and reliability in every conceivable manner, and have proved themselves to be the most satisfactory time-pieces ever offered to the public.

This result has been brought about by a strict application of mechanical science to the construction of the Watch from its very inception, rendering it when finished, mathematically correct in all its proportions, and necessarily as perfect a time-keeper as it is possible to make.

The Company have tested their Watches in many instances, by actual daily noting, and the result of this test has been that they have exhibited a rate equal in regularity to the best marine chronometer.

From the Prairie Farmer, Oct. 1860.

AMERICAN WATCHES.—Nearly a year ago, we received from Messrs. Robbins & Appleton, General Agents of the American Watch Company, and paid for a good looking watch, "warranted," with the request that after thorough trial we should say what we thought of it, editorially. It has been our constant companion nearly a year. We have had no fault to find with the way it has ticked the time. We do not want a better time-piece than this has proved to be thus far. Once regulated (and we regulated it ourself) it has scarcely varied a half minute a month from "transit time." Added to its quality as a good time keeper, it is honestly and substantially made. Were we going to purchase, we should prefer an American watch.

Office of the Tribune, New York, Oct. 27, 1859.

American Watch Company, Waltham,

Gentlemen,—Having carried one of your watches for the last eight years, I can say confidently that they will do, and may be bought with assurance that they will keep time. I believe the watch unsurpassed.

HORACE GREELEY.

New York, Aug. 2, 1860.

Gentlemen—In reply to yours of 25th ulto, we take pleasure in stating that the American watch now in use upon our railroad, has varied only six seconds, in a little over six months.

Respectfully,

S. W. & W. A. TORREY,

Contractors on the Rar. and Del. Bay R. R.

To Messrs. Robbins & Appleton.

Boston, Sept. 27, 1859.

Mr. R. E. Robbins, Treasurer Amer. Watch Co.:

Dear Sir—It gives me great pleasure to comply with your request for a report of the performance of the American Watch I purchased of you Dec. 2, 1858. It was set on that day, and the variation from true time to the 29th of February, 1859, when I let it run down, was ten second fast. From that time to the present, it has run with nearly perfect steadiness, having during the eight months remained at from seven to nine seconds fast, and this with uncommonly rough usage. I can commend your manufacture in the highest terms.

Yours truly

JAMES H. CLAPP,

Firm of Clapp, Fuller & Brown, Bankers, Boston.

The following named gentlemen may be referred to in relation to these Watches:

Hon. Hannibal Hamlin, Me.; John G. Saxe, Vermont; N. P. Willis, New York; Hon. N. P. Banks, Mass; Horace Greeley; Frank Leslie; Cyrus W. Field, New York; Wm. H. Cary, N. Y.; Paul Morphy, New Orleans; Norman Wiard, Wis; Dr. J. Marion Sims; Prof. Bartlett, West Pt; Lieut. H. A. Wise, U. S. N.; Col. W. J. Hardee, U. S. A; S. I. Prime, D. D., Wh't Pls; Wilson G. Hunt, N. Y.; Gen. G. P. Morris, N. York; Peter Cooper, N. York.

CAUTION.—As our Watch is now extensively counterfeited by foreign manufacturers, we have to inform the public that no watch is of our production which is unaccompanied by a certificate of genuineness, bearing the number of the watch, and signed by our Treasurer, R. E. Robbins, or by our predecessors, Appleton, Tracy & Co.

As these watches are for sale by jewelers generally throughout the Union, the American Watch Company do not solicit orders for single watches.

A Thing of Beauty is a Joy Forever.

WHO CAN BE BEAUTIFUL WITH A sickly pale complexion. Keep the pores of the skin free, and the blood pure, and your cheeks will vie with the rose and lily. The skin is formed with thousands of pores in every inch of surface, whose office it is to carry off the impurities of the blood—the acknowledged cause of all diseases of mankind—when the skin is dry and parched—when it is covered with eruptions—when it is cold and clammy—when there is inward fever or inflammation—it is impossible for the skin under these circumstances to perform its proper functions, and to carry off the impurities from the body as designed by our Creator.

JUDSON'S MOUNTAIN HERB PILLS remove these obstructions, and produce free and healthy blood, remove the eruptions from the skin, and cause it to brighten with the flush of youth and beauty. Beauty so much admired and loved. Beauty without paints and cosmetics—but beauty produced by health and happiness.

THE SHIP OF STATE.

BY LONGFELLOW.

Thou too, sail on, O Ship of State!
Sail on, O Union, strong and great!
Humanity, with all its fears,
With all the hopes of future years,
Is hanging, breathless, on thy fate.
We know what Master laid thy keel,
What workmen wrought thy ribs of steel,
Who made each mast, and sail, and rope,
What anvils rang, what hammers beat,
In what a forge, in what a heat
Were shaped the anchors of thy hope!
Fear not each sudden sound and shock;
'Tis of the wave, and not the rock;
'Tis but the flapping of a sail,
And not a rent made by the gale!
In spite of rock or tempest's roar,
In spite of false lights on the shore,
Sail on, nor fear to breast the sea!
Our hearts, our hopes, are all with thee,
Our hearts, our hopes, our prayers, our tears,
Our faith triumphant o'er our fears,
Are all with thee, are all with thee.

MOSES ORAN;

OR,

"THE BURGLARS' NEST."

BY GEO. CLARENCE BLANCHARD.

CHAPTER I.

THE NEST OF THE TOMTIT.

Near the close of a day in October, a traveller dismounted from his jaded horse, and entered a hostelry, or tavern, situated in the then wildest region of Pennsylvania. The stranger, who was a large, stout-looking man, heavily bearded, paused before the door that led into the bar-room, and peeped inquisitively in; seeing a small group sitting around the table, he walked leisurely toward them, introducing himself in a frank, easy style.

"A good evening, gentlemen, to you all."

The company, who were busily engaged in conversing, hardly noticed his entrance, but when he spoke, they instantly paused and greeted the new-comer with a look plainly expressive of surprise, curiosity and anger. One of the party, who had a less sinister and surly face than the rest, gravely advanced before him, eyeing him sharply, as he said:

"You wish lodgings, my man?"

"Certainly I do, Mr. Beg, (who at the mention of his own name visibly startled); what else should I stop here for? There's my pony wants the same thing; attend to him first, and in the meanwhile I will make myself at home."

So saying, the stranger, scarcely heeding the general scowl which greeted him as he said this, coolly lit his cigar, and forthwith stretched himself in an easy posture in Tim Beg's favorite arm-chair, much to the astonishment of that gentleman, who slowly moved toward the door, winking slily to his companions as he did so.

The stranger commenced to smoke, eyeing the company with a nonchalance and familiarity that took them completely by surprise.

"Vot yer doing here for?" growled a dark-visaged, ugly-looking scoundrel, whose pox-marked face was half obscured by a dirty cap. He rose as he spoke, and drew out a sharp knife.

"Oh, ho!" laughed the stranger, sending up a long spiral column of smoke, and regarding the other with a half sneer. "Don't attempt to frighten me; ain't your name Dick Hatton?"

Scarcely had he asked the question, before the whole party sprang instantaneously to their feet, and confronted him with the rage of tigers—and a more precious set of cut throats could hardly have been found.

"Kill him! kill him!" was the general cry. Pistols and bowie-knives were promiscuously drawn, and one could see that they longed to lap the blood of the unfortunate man, as they crowded around their victim. Dick Hatton, with an ugly grin, interposed.

"Stop, boys; the fellow is safe. I want to catechise 'im afore he's made mince-meat of. Come, now, who are ye?"

During all the tumult occasioned by his remark, the stranger had kept his easy, half-recumbent position, regardless of the menacing group, continuing to smoke with the most astonishing coolness, and eyeing them all with a sort of saucy smile that was absolutely provoking.

"Come, now, who are ye?" repeated Dick Hatton, tightening his grasp on his bowie-knife.

The ruffians pressed nearer, a dozen knives were raised, but still the stranger manifested not the slightest symptom of alarm. Carelessly divesting himself of his beard, he proceeded in the same quiet way to displace a black curling wig. In one second more, the gang had burst into a wild halloo, which sent Tim Beg rushing back.

"Blow my eyes!" exclaimed he, letting his pipe fall from his mouth, in his amazement. "Why, it is Tomtit!"

"Nobody else," replied that individual, who had not changed his position, but was puffing vigorously at his cigar. "You're bright people, all of you, 'pon my word; now, Beg, see if you can trot back to the stable, and put my horse in better quarters than you first intended; and hearken, lad, tell that spoony of a wife of yours to fix up something hot; I'm blasted hungry. Now then, what are you all gaping at me for?" added the Tomtit, surveying the group with a derisive smile. "Didn't know me, when I've cheated you so often? Nice fellow!"

The gang indeed looked very foolish, at the unexpected denouement; their weapons were once more returned to their hiding places, and they stood staring at their chief, scarcely believing their own eyes.

"Ther devil 'imself would find it 'ard to tell ye," observed Dick sulkily. "Vy, Beg, as knows everybody, with von eye, gets taken in; but, Tomtit, vot's the news?"

"Never you trouble your head for that, it will come in good time," replied the Tomtit, draining a glass of ale, officiously placed before him. "Everything just as I suspected; the police were on our track at Gamble's, but I fixed 'em." With this brief synopsis of news, the Tomtit leaned back in his chair, and continued to smoke in a thoughtful, meditating manner.

In about fifteen minutes, Mrs. Beg, a portly, red haired lady, announced that supper was ready, and the gang adjourned to a small apartment in the rear part of the building, where a rude meal was served up; a roast pig forming the principal feature of the entertainment, which was quickly washed down with a liberal supply of whiskey.

"Now, then," said the Tomtit, after he had satisfied his hunger, and was stirring the components of a second glassful of punch, "now, then, boys, I'm ready to tell the news. In the first place, Crib has been cribbed."

"What?" ejaculated the gang with one voice, "Crib nabbed?"

"Crib is nabbed, and that's the short and long of it," observed the Tomtit, gloomily. "Once was the time the trade could be carried on, and none of us ran the least bit of a risk; even a 'Nest' wasn't necessary; now the thing gets every day more dangerous, and the profits grow smaller."

"But what about Crib?" inquired several of the gang, anxiously.

"Crib," continued the Tomtit, "acted like a precious fool; I told him all the boys had left but him, but he was so blasted confident he kept lagging, and putting off, till he got cribbed. He would just close his peepers, and walk into the pit without any one helping him in; confound him, he nearly dragged me with him."

The company now pressed the Tomtit for more detailed information, from which it appeared that that unlucky individual had indulged in a spree, and having boasted pretty freely of his achievements in the burglary line, was incontinently pounced upon by the Philadelphia police, who had long been on the look-out for him.

"He von't peach I 'ope," observed Dick Hatton. "It vould be a werry bad blow-up arter all the trouble of 'ouse keeping, not saying nothing about 'aving no private conweniences, and a place for to 'ide when ther vind blows 'igh."

"He aint going to peach," said Mr. Beg, authoritatively, "not he, I know him to be a bully man."

"So do I, so do I," exclaimed several voices at once.

"As to the matter of that," remarked Tomtit, "he'll keep things dark, and may be set them on the wrong scent—let him alone for that. But blast me," continued the gentleman, "that isn't the thing; we can't spare Crib; why the whole twelve of us are wanted for next week's job, and Crib was such a locksmith that his services were next to gold, but it is just our confounded luck."

The Tomtit, with this brief reference to the valuable qualifications of Mr. Crib, proceeded to mix a third glass of whiskey punch, and to swallow the same with a look of becoming sorrow and resignation.

"As he's gone," continued the Tomtit musingly, "I suppose it's best to try a different plan; I tell you what boys, I have a great mind to postpone the visit to old Van Clecker's for a fortnight at least, till I can get one of us in some way connected with the house; I heard the other day that the old gentleman wanted a coachman, and if I had somebody to personate one, why it would be a very rum thing to get in there, and then, don't you see, there would be no need of a locksmith."

"Vy don't you go, Tomtit, yer would make a rum coachee, yer would?" suggested Dick, with a grin.

"Why, as to that, I suppose I might suit the old gentleman to a hair," returned the Tomtit complacently; "but I have something more important to manage; no, I'll tell you what boys, I've a good notion to send one of you."

"Good," said several voices.

"I know," continued the Tomtit, "all about the house, as far as that goes, for I have visited every nook and corner myself, but still it would be very convenient to have somebody to let us in; Crib could have opened the back door easily, but seeing he's caged, we'll have to give up getting in that way."

"Hist," suddenly exclaimed Mr. Beg, describing with his finger a rapid movement in the direction of the windows. The burglars started and pricked up their ears as they distinctly heard the sound of an approaching vehicle; it was just wheeling up before the tavern, and Mr. Beg, who had been sent to reconnoitre, quickly returned to report to the anxious gang that it was only a traveller who had lost his way and wished to stay over night. "He's a jolly looking 'un and has a big carpet bag," whispered Mr. Beg.

This intelligence caused a momentary excitement; the burglars started up, their fierce eyes sparkling with eager delight, but meeting the gaze of their chief they sullenly resumed their seats.

"Is it a werry comfortable looking bag?" enquired Dick, rubbing his hands in expectation of plunder.

"Very promising looking I should say," replied Mr. Beg, "but what shall I do with the owner?"

Four tallow candles were brought into the room, and the burglars held a hurried conversation as to how they should dispose of their visitor; some were for dispatching him at once, others were for making away with him silently; as a prolonged discussion seemed likely to arise, Mr. Beg was commissioned to see to the personal comfort of the gentleman, provide him with a supper, and make ready his apartment, which last direction caused Mr. Beg to grin from ear to ear.

"Mind," said Dick, "to put 'im in the room vot's got the trap-door, vich is ther werry model of conwenience, and the comfortablest room in ther 'ouse."

Mr. Beg laughed approvingly at Mr. Hatton's humorous allusion to the trap-door, and left his friends to continue the consultation.

"My advice," said Dick, "is to run 'im down ven he's snoozing, and drop 'im in the vat; dead men doesn't tell tales."

"Dead men does tell tales, though," interrupted one of the burglars, lowering his voice to a whisper; "they come up and peach, if its only to get a cove in trouble."

"I think so, too," chimed in another, who was known by the soubriquet of Molecat; "they vill come up sometimes ven it is werry inconwenient and troublesome. Vonce ven I was doing business in the pad line, in New York, we cotched a fellow one night who was werry lushy. It was a werry good haul, an' some on us wos for letting him go, but he kept such a bellerin' and threatening that, after parlying a little, Bill Hedges give him a knock on the head vich silenced him; vell, afore we tossed him into the river, Bill ties a big rock to his neck to prevent his coming up and breeding a lot o' nasty questions: but the werry next morning the spiteful corpse came ashore without the rock, and holding tight onto a piece of Bill Hedges' jacket, vich wos the means of convincing him and sending him to the gallows."

Mr. Molecat's record of his personal experience seemed to make but little impression on his listeners, for the main subject under consideration was resumed, and a lively debate sprang up, which was, however, not participated in by Tomtit.

That gentleman sat quietly listening to the various opinions, begining no other comment than an occasional nod of his head. It was evident that the burglars were unanimously in favor of instantly destroying the traveller; though they essentially varied in their proposed plan of operation.

Mr. Dick Hatton watched his leader's countenance during the progress of the conversation, but it looked stolidly indifferent.

"Vot's yer opinion, Tomtit?" he inquired anxiously. "Aint yer a going to say nothing?"

"Of course I am, replied Tomtit, planting his legs defiantly on the table; "my opinion is the opinion that's got to be adopted, and no chattering. Now look here," continued he, fixing his restless eyes on the group, "you all want to make way with this traveller?"

"That's so," exclaimed the burglars.

"And I," continued Tomtit, coolly, "am for letting him go."

It would be impossible to describe the effect produced by this decision. The burglars jumped up, and oaths and imprecations of every description, were showered on their leader.

"I say," repeated the chief, unmoved by the threatening attitude of his men, "he shall go free—not a hair of his head shall be touched; and who dares object?" His stern, gray eyes glanced from burglar to burglar, and they involuntarily quailed before their defiant gleam.

"Now listen you fools, to my reasons," continued the Tomtit, angrily, as the over-awed villains shrank back into their seats. "You all know next week we do a heavy job in the wholesale line; after it's done we must keep dark; and here, the 'Nest' is the only place we are safe in, and here we must remain till the matter blows over; but, if this man is missed, between that and the job there'll be such a hue and cry raised that we won't dare to show our heads; now do you understand?"

"Vell, s'pose we run the horse and wagon up the country, and hitch his clothes by the side uv the river, vich will look as though he circumwented himself?" suggested Mr. Molecat.

The Tomtit shook his head contemptuously.

"Now, then, what would you get for the painstaking and risk? Why, just a carpet-bag and maybe a few trifles; people aint such fools as you take them, to go lugging money round the country—there would be plenty of questions asked about the carpet-bag, and likely enough the horse might take it into his head to come back—horses aint fools either," observed the Tomtit, sarcastically.

Mr. Molecat scratched his head as an expressive indication that the argument was unanswerable, and a short pause ensued.

"Vell," remarked Dick Hatton, breaking the silence, "ther Tomtit's right, I s'pose, but it does look sorter hard arter the bird's cotched to perwent the picking of 'im. It's mean, that's vot it is!"

The Tomtit vouchsafed no reply to this sullen speech, but lighting a fresh cigar, he rose, shook himself, and called Mr. Beg into an adjoining apartment.

"Where is the man?" said he.

"In the back room, eating his super," was that worthy's reply; "you can peep at him easy enough, for I left the door on the swing."

The Tomtit accordingly crept stealthily into the passage, and getting on his hands and knees, obtained a very excellent view of the stranger, who was quietly proceeding with his meal. Scarcely, however, had the Tomtit's restless eye peered within, than he gave a start of surprise, and retreated immediately.

"Here, Beg," he whispered, in an excited tone, as that individual followed him back again to the private room; "here's a confounded go. Who do you suppose that man is?"

Mr. Beg, of course, intimated that he didn't know, whereupon the Tomtit, looking around to satisfy himself that they were alone, brought his hand in the form of a trumpet close to Mr. Beg's ear, and whispered:

"It's Duffy!"

Mr. Beg's face turned deathly pale.

"What," he whispered, "the Detective?"

"The same," rejoined the Tomtit, with an expression plainly denoting his agitation. "Who or what should bring him here, I neither know nor can I guess—Beg, keep this from the boys; they are savage enough now, but if they should find out the truth, I couldn't control 'em. They would tear this man to pieces, but Beg, that mustn't be; they must be led off; for it would be the worst thing yet to kill him; he would be missed as sure as preaching."

"Is this the one who has been trying so long to find our Nest?" inquired Beg.

"The very same," replied Tomtit. "You know the State government has offered a reward of over five thousand dollars for the discovery of our whereabouts, and this Duffy has been sneaking around trying to find us, not so much for the possession of the reward as some private aim; he ain't a regular Detective, or he might be led off; years ago he was on our track. I have been watching him all along, designing to finish him when a good opportunity offered, but the wiry scoundrel managed to escape me; he may disguise himself as much as he likes, he can't cheat me."

"He's disguised then?" said Mr. Beg, amazed afresh.

"Of course he is; that fatness isn't real. He thinks he's unknown to me, but I'll pay him off yet," rejoined the Tomtit with a silent imprecation. "I'll get rid of him, but it mustn't be done here. Now then, Beg, listen: Fetch me a lantern and the key of the ——. You understand me.

Beg nodded his head, and flew off with alacrity. No one entertained a greater admiration of the Tomtit than that gentleman; he regarded him with the same deference a dog would show to his master, and was contented as long as he could testify his servile affection; he quickly returned with the lantern and key, and to his great surprise found the burglar chief absorbed in the contemplation of the miniature of a young girl, seemingly some seventeen years of age, and of surpassing loveliness, and heard him mutter, "He certainly has good cause to hate me, but I would have spared him had he kept away from 'the Nest.' Now, however, he has rushed upon his doom!" Then becoming aware of Beg's presence, the Tomtit hastily thrust the picture in his bosom, and turning to the inn keeper, whispered:

"Let me out by the back door, Beg."

"All right," was the quiet response.

"Not a word to the boys, mind; if they miss me, tell 'em I've gone to bed."

The Tomtit, with this parting caution, made his exit from the door, which Mr Beg held open, and walked rapidly off.

The faithful custodian of the Burglars' Nest stood for a few minutes listening, till the retreating footsteps of the burglar chief had died away in the distance; then he carefully closed and relocked the door, and returned to the bar, there to muse over the surprising and startling disclosures which the Tomtit had made to him.

It was one of those remarkable circumstances that sometimes happens in real life, that Mr. Detective Duffy should have unconsciously blundered into the very place he had been searching for vainly the past two years. As he sat quietly eating his supper he little dreamt that a few yards off stood a figure which, the mere sight of, would have moved him to an absolute frenzy; and well it might,—for there was a story connected with that figure, a tale so heart-rending, so terrible, so revolting,—of faith broken, of hospitality abused, of wrongs perpetrated, of an idolized daughter consigned to wretchedness,—that it could not have been passed over. It had left its impress on the careworn features of that old man, discernible in every lineament; his gray eyes seemed to flash with the same spirit,—of deep, absorbing revenge.

And now those two men were about to meet—the Detective known to the Burglar, the Burglar unknown to the Detective—to engage in a desperate game, the issue of which was to be death to one or both. Intelligence and honesty were to be pitted against cunning and crime. What was to be the result of this fearful struggle and thirst for vengeance, we shall be able to see in our next chapter.

The above is all of this story that will be published in our columns. The continuation of it from where it leaves off here can be found only in the New York Ledger, the great family paper, which is for sale at all the stores throughout the city and country, where papers are sold. Remember and ask for the New York Ledger of January 5, and in it you will find the continuation of the story from where it leaves off here.

Experience having proved that simple remedies often act speedily and certainly when taken in the early stages of the disease, recourse should at once be had to "BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES," or Lozenges, let the Cold, Cough, or Irritation of the Throat be ever so slight, as by this precaution a more serious attack may be effectually warded off. Sherry Wine Bitters!

The Celebrated New England Remedy

FOR HABITUAL CONSTIPATION,

JAUNDICE, FEVER AND AGUE, GENERAL DEBILITY, AND ALL DISEASES ARISING FROM A DISORDERED STOMACH, LIVER, OR BOWELS.

IT IS A MEDICINAL TONIC THAT most persons require during the summer season. Try its virtues all you who are debilitated and require medicinal aid.

The following is from the best authority. Mr. Stanford is a merchant, well known, and one to whom, you would behold a man the picture of health.

BLOUNTSVILLE, Henry Co., Ind., May 4, 1860.

MESSRS. J. N. HARRIS & Co., Cincinnati, O.

Gents:—Your Agent visited me to-day, and proposed leaving me a supply of your Richardson's Sherry Wine Bitters on sale. I hailed them as an old and valued friend, for such they proved to me. After hearing a statement of my case, and experience with the bitters, you will not think me enthusiastic when I say that I attribute my present good health, even life itself, to the merits of your truly invaluable medicine. Some three years since I was attacked with great nervous debility, which was soon followed by palpitation of the heart of the most severe and protracted character. At the expiration of six months I was reduced to a mere skeleton and was satisfied if relief did not soon come I must pass away. Two physicians attended me a good portion of the time, but their efforts to afford relief were of no avail. Finally one of them suggested a trial of the "Sherry Wine Bitters," and to my great satisfaction, their effects upon me were most beneficial from the start. After using about a dozen bottles I was completely restored, and am now in robust health. You may expect good sales of me, as I can recommend them on their merits.

You are at liberty to make use of this statement as may best suit you, as I give it freely, and with a hope that others may be induced to try it who are suffering as I was. With all respect, I remain,

Yours truly,

THOMAS STANFORD.

For many diseases incident to the human family, Internally and Externally

It works equally sure.

ROMEO, Macomb Co., Mich., July 9, 1860.

MESSRS. J. N. HARRIS & Co.

Gentlemen:—The confidence I have in Perry Davis' Pain Killer as a remedy for Colds, Coughs, Burns, Sprains and Rheumatism, for the cure of which I have successfully used it, induces me to cheerfully recommend its virtues to others.

A few months ago I had recourse to it to destroy a felon; although I had never heard of it being used for that purpose, but having suffered intensely from a former one, and having no other remedy at hand, I applied the Pain Killer freely for about fifteen minutes at evening, and repeated the application very briefly the next morning, which entirely destroyed the felon, and increased my confidence in the utility of the remedy. Yours truly,

A. W. CURTIS,

Minister of the Wesleyan Methodist Church.

THE PAIN KILLER

Has been tested in every variety of climate, and by almost every nation known to Americans. It is the almost constant companion and inestimable friend of the missionary and the traveler—on sea and land—and no one should travel on our lakes or rivers without it.

ROXBURY, Mass.

DEAR MADAM:—The reputation of the Medical Discovery, in curing all kinds of humors, is so well established, by the unanimous voice of all who have ever used it, that I need not say anything on the subject, as the most skillful physicians and the most careful druggists in the country are unanimous in its praise.

In presenting the Medical Discovery to your notice, I do it with a full knowledge of its curative powers, in relieving all, and curing most of the diseases to which you are unfortunately so liable. That most excruciating disease to an affectionate mother is cured as if by a miracle; your own temper is restored to its natural sweetness, and your babe from short and fretful naps to calm and sweet slumbers; and the Medical Discovery becomes a fountain of blessings to your husband and household.

In the more advanced stages of Canker!

it extends to the stomach, causing

Dyspepsia

which is nothing but canker on the stomach; then on the intestines and creating a sinking, gone feeling, and an indifference even to the cares of your family.

Kidneys

Your stomach is

Raw and Inflamed,

your food distresses you, and you can only take certain kinds, and even of that your system does not get half the nourishment it contains, as the acrimonious fluid of the canker eats it up; then your complexion loses its bloom and becomes sallow or greenish, and your best day is gone. For want of nourishment your system becomes loose and flabby, and the fibres of your body become relaxed. Then follows a train of diseases which the Medical Discovery is peculiarly adapted to

Cure:

Palpitation of the heart, pain in the side, weakness of the spine and small of the back, pain of the hip joint when you retire, irregularity of the bowels, and also that most excruciating of diseases the Piles.

How many thousands of poor women are suffering from this disease and pining away a miserable life, and their next door neighbor does not know the cause. I wish to impress on your mind that good old proverb, "an ounce of prevention is better than a pound of cure." In the

MEDICAL DISCOVERY

you have both the preventative and the cure, with this great and good quality, that it will never, under any circumstances, do you an injury. Yours truly, DONALD KENNEDY.

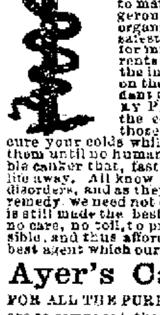
AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL

FOR THE RAPID CURE OF

Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Influenza, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma, Incipient Consumption,

AND FOR THE RELIEF OF CONSUMPTIVE patients in advanced stages of the disease.



We need not speak to the public of its virtues. Throughout every town and almost every hamlet of the United States, its wonderful cures of pulmonary complaints have made it already known. Nay, few are the families in any civilized country on this continent without some personal experience of its effects; and fewer yet, the communities anywhere which have not among them some living trophy of its victory over the subtle and dangerous diseases of the throat and lungs. While it is the most powerful antidote yet known to man for the formidable and dangerous diseases of the pulmonary organs, it is also the pleasantest and safest remedy that can be employed for infants and young persons. Parents should have it in store against the insidious enemy that steals upon them unprepared. We have abundant grounds to believe the CHERRY PECTORAL saves more lives by the consumptions it prevents than those it cures. Keep it by you, and cure your colds while they are curable, nor neglect them until no human skill can master the inexorable canker that, fastened on the vitals, eats your life away. All know the dreadful fatality of lung disorders, and as they know too the virtues of this remedy, we need not do more than to assure them it is still made the best it can be. We spare no cost, no care, no toil, to produce it the most perfect possible, and thus afford to those who rely on it the best agent which our skill can furnish for their cure.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills

FOR ALL THE PURPOSES OF A FAMILY PHYSIC

are so composed that disease within the range of their action can rarely withstand or evade them. Their penetrating properties search, and cleanse, and invigorate every portion of the human organism, correcting its diseased action, and restoring its healthy vitalities. As a consequence of these properties, the invalid who is bowed down with pain or physical debility is astonished to find his health or energy restored by a remedy at once so simple and inviting.

Not only do they cure the every-day complaints of every body, but also many formidable and dangerous diseases. The agent below named is pleased to furnish gratis my American Almanac, containing certificates of their cures and directions for their use in the following complaints: Costiveness, Heartburn, Headache arising from disordered Stomach, Nausea, Indigestion, Pain in and Morbid Inaction of the Bowels, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, Jaundice, and other kindred complaints, arising from a low state of the body or obstruction of its functions.

MOFFAT'S

Life Pills and Phœnix Bitters!

THESE MEDICINES HAVE NOW been before the public for a period of THIRTY YEARS, and during that time have maintained a high character in almost every part of the Globe, for their extraordinary and immediate power of restoring perfect health to persons suffering under nearly every kind of disease to which the human frame is liable.

The following are among the distressing variety of human diseases in which the

VEGETABLE LIFE MEDICINES

Are well known to be infallible.

DYSPEPSIA, by thoroughly cleansing the first and second stomachs, and creating a flow of pure, healthy bile, instead of the stale and acrid kind; FLATULENCY, Loss of Appetite, Heartburn, Headache, Restlessness, Ill-Temper, Anxiety, Languor, and Melancholy, which are the general symptoms of Dyspepsia, will vanish, as a natural consequence of its cure.

COSTIVENESS, by cleansing the whole length of the intestines with a solvent process, and without violence; all violent purges leave the bowels costive within two days.

FEVERS of all kinds, by restoring the blood to a regular circulation, through the process of respiration in such cases, and the thorough solution of all intestinal obstruction in others.

The Life Medicines have been known to cure RHEUMATISM permanently in three weeks, and GOUT in half that time, by removing local inflammation from the muscles and ligaments of the joints.

DROPSIES of all kinds, by freeing and strengthening the kidneys and bladder; they operate most delightfully on these important organs, and hence have ever been found a certain remedy for the worst cases of GRAVEL.

Also WORMS, by dislodging from the turnings of the bowels the slimy matter to which these creatures adhere.

SCURVY, ULCERS and INVETERATE SORES, by the perfect purity which these LIFE MEDICINES give to the blood, and all the humors.

SCORBUTIC ERUPTIONS and BAD COMPLEXIONS by their alterative effect upon the fluids that feed the skin, and the morbid state which occasions all eruptive complaints, sallow, cloudy, and other disagreeable complexions.

The use of these Pills for a very short time will effect an entire cure of SALT RHEUM, and a striking improvement in the clearness of the skin. COMMON COLDS and INFLUENZA will always be cured by one dose, or by two in the worst cases.

PILES.—The original proprietor of these Medicines, was cured of Piles, of 35 years standing by the use of the LIFE MEDICINES alone.

FEVER AND AGUE.—For this scourge of the western country, these Medicines will be found a safe, speedy, and certain remedy. Other medicines leave the system subject to a return of the disease—a cure by these Medicines is permanent—TRY THEM, BE SATISFIED AND BE CURED.

BILIOUS FEVERS AND LIVER COMPLAINTS.—General Debility, Loss of Appetite, and Diseases of Females—the Medicines have been used with the most beneficial results in cases of this description: King's Evil and Scrofula, in its worst forms, yields to the mild yet powerful action of these remarkable medicines. Night Sweats, Nervous Debility, Nervous Complaints of all kinds, Palpitation of the Heart, Painters's Colic, are speedily cured.

MERCURIAL DISEASES.—Persons whose constitutions have become impaired by the injudicious use of Mercury, will find these Medicines a perfect cure, as they never fail to eradicate from the system all the effects of Mercury, infinitely sooner than the most powerful preparations of Sarsaparilla.

DR. MOTT'S CHALYBEATE RESTORATIVE PILLS OF IRON.

AN APERIENT AND STOMACHIC preparation of IRON purified of Oxygen and Carbon by combustion in Hydrogen. Sanctioned by the highest Medical authorities, both in Europe and the United States, and prescribed in their practice.

The experience of thousands daily proves that no preparation of Iron can be compared with it. Impurities of the blood, depression of vital energy, pale and otherwise sickly complexions indicate its necessity in almost every conceivable case. Innoxious in all maladies in which it has been tried, it has proved absolutely curative in each of the following complaints, viz:

In Debility, Nervous Affections, Emaciation, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Incipient Consumption, Scrofulous Tuberculosis, Salt Rheum, Mismenstruation, Whites, Chlorosis, Liver Complaints, Chronic Headaches, Rheumatism, Intermittent Fevers, Pimples on the Face, &c.

In cases of General Debility, whether the result of acute disease or of the continued diminution of nervous and muscular energy from chronic complaints, one trial of this restorative has proved successful to an extent which no description nor written attestation would render credible. Invalids so long bed-ridden as to have become forgotten in their own neighborhoods, have suddenly re-appeared in the busy world, as if just returned from protracted travel in a distant land. Some very signal instances of this kind are attested of female sufferers, emaciated victims of apparent marasmus, sanguineous exhaustion, critical changes, and that complication of nervous and dyspeptic aversion to air and exercise for which the physician has no name.

In Nervous Affections of all kinds and for reasons familiar to medical men, the operation of this preparation of iron must necessarily be salutary, for, unlike the old oxides it is vigorously tonic, without being exciting and overheating; and gently, regularly aperient, even in the most obstinate cases of costiveness, without ever being a gastric purgative, or inflicting a disagreeable sensation.

It is this latter property, among others, which makes it so remarkably effectual and permanent a remedy for Piles, upon which it also appears to exert a distinct and specific action, by dispersing the local tendency which forms them.

In Dyspepsia, innumerable as are its causes, a single box of these Chalybeate Pills has often sufficed for the most habitual cases, including the attendant Costiveness.

In unchecked Diarrhœa, even when advanced to Dysentery, confirmed, emaciating, and apparently malignant, the effects have been equally decisive and astonishing.

In the local pains, loss of flesh and strength, debilitating cough, and remittent hectic, which generally indicate Incipient Consumption, this remedy has allayed the alarm of friends and physicians, in several very gratifying and interesting instances.

In Scrofulous Tuberculosis, this medicated iron has had far more than the good effect of the most cautiously balanced preparations of iodine, without any of their well-known liabilities.

The attention of females cannot be too confidently invited to this remedy and restorative, in the cases peculiarly affecting them.

In Rheumatism, both chronic and inflammatory—in the latter, however, more decidedly—it has been invariably well reported, both as alleviating pain and reducing the swellings and stiffness of the joints and muscles.

In Intermittent Fevers it must necessarily be a great remedy and energetic restorative, and its progress in the new settlements of the West, will probably be one of high renown and usefulness.

No remedy has ever been discovered in the whole history of medicine, which exerts such prompt, happy, and fully restorative effects. Good appetite, complete digestion, rapid acquisition of strength, with an unusual disposition for active and cheerful exercise, immediately follow its use.

TELEGRAPH!

REPORTED BY THE N. Y. ASSOCIATED PRESS FOR THE DAILY SENTINEL.

Washington Matters.

NEW YORK Dec. 22.

The Herald's Washington correspondent telegraphs: Senators Davis and Wigfall read despatches this afternoon stating that the forts would be taken in less than 24 hours. Mr. Davis immediately communicated this intelligence to the President.

The Cabinet, together with several leading Southern Senators, have been in counsel. It has not yet transpired what course the Government will pursue.

A naval fleet will probably be forthwith despatched to Charleston.

The Committee of thirty-three were in session to-day six and one-half hours considering various propositions to arrest the progress of dissolution and give peace to the country.

The amendment to the Constitution proposed by Mr. Crittenden to settle the controversy between the North and the South finally and forever, by a division of the country from ocean to ocean on the parallel of the Missouri line, was the great subject of discussion. After a long debate, it was lost under the rule of the committee requiring a majority of both Democrats and Republicans, the latter voting in the negative.

Several other propositions were proposed but without acting on them, the Committee adjourned till Monday.

The Times' Washington correspondent says:

WASHINGTON, Sunday.—The Senate Committee of thirteen will report to-morrow, when Senator Toombs will speak in denunciation of the Republican Party, and will repudiate any further effort at reconciliation. Mr. Toombs telegraphs this evening the following address to the people of Georgia:

I came here to secure your constitutional rights and to demonstrate to you that you can get no guarantee for those rights from your Northern Confederates. The whole subject was referred to a committee of thirteen in the Senate. I was appointed on the committee and accepted the trust. I submitted propositions which so far from receiving decided support from a single member of the Republican part of the committee, were all treated with derision or contempt. A vote was then taken in the committee on amendments to the Constitution, proposed by Hon. J. S. Crittenden and each and all were voted against unanimously by the Black Republican members of the committee. In addition to these facts a majority of the Black Republican members of the committee declared distinctly they had no guarantees to offer, which was silently acquiesced in by the other members.

The Black Republicans of the Committee are representative men of the party and section, and to the extent of my information, truly represent them. The Committee of thirty-three on Friday adjourned for a week, without coming to any vote, after solemnly pledging themselves to vote on all the propositions before them on that day. It is controlled by the Black Republicans, your enemies, who only seek to amuse you with delusive hope until your election, that you may defeat the friends of secession. If you are deceived by them it shall not be my fault.—I have put the test fairly and frankly. It is decisive against you now. I tell you upon the faith of a true man, that all further looking to the North for security for your constitutional rights in the Union ought to be instantly abandoned. It is fraught with nothing but ruin to yourselves and to your posterity. Secession by the 4th of March next should be thundered from the ballot-box, by the unanimous voice of Georgia, on the 2d day of January next. Such a voice will be your best guarantee for liberty, security, tranquility and glory. [Signed]

R. TOOMBS.

Gen. Cushing, sent to South Carolina at the request of the Supreme Court, to consult with the leaders, touching secession, reports that State as acting with a view to the co-operation of all the slave States.

The report that Gov. Pickens had threatened an attack on Fort Moultrie if the revenue cutter was not withdrawn from Charleston harbor, is a fabrication.

The commissioners from South Carolina are posted on Wednesday, when President Buchanan will send a special message to Congress, communicating the fact.

It is now generally understood that the commissioners will not be admitted to the floor of the House or Senate, nor be recognized by either branch.

The Herald's correspondence says a New York millionaire is implicated in Bailey's fraud upon the Indian Trust Funds, he having prevailed upon Bailey to loan him the bonds. Besides this millionaire, a heavy contractor with the Government, and a heavy house in Chicago are implicated; also a member of the Cabinet, whose acceptances are said to be deposited in place of the missing funds.

The Tribune's Washington correspondent says that if the South Carolina Postmasters retire in a body, as expected, Mr. Holt will at once give public notice that no mails for South Carolina will be made up, because they cannot be delivered at their destination; all such will be sent to the dead letter office after a certain date, to be delivered to the parties sending them.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24—3 P. M.

There is good authority for saying that the South Carolina Commissioners left Charleston for this city this morning.

The South Carolina Secession Convention.

CHARLESTON, Dec. 22.

The convention met at noon to-day.—Several reports were received and referred. No report has been made on postal matters and customs, but it is generally conceded that when it is made it will provide as follows: That the revenue laws of the United States be adopted; that the Collector of the port take the oath of allegiance to South Carolina; that the postal matters remain unchanged.

Mr. Dessausure, from the committee to whom was referred the communication from a portion of the members of the Georgia Legislature, reported the communication as received, which provided that secession should not take place until Alabama, Mississippi and Florida assembled their conventions for final State action, but that the communication was now of no avail, as the secession of South Carolina had already taken place.

Mr. McGrath, from the committee on such portions of the President's Message as referred to the property of the United States in the limits of South Carolina, said he preferred making his report in the secret session.

The convention then went into a secret session, and continued so for two hours. It is reported that a very animated discussion took place on the report. Mr. Keitt's address to the people of the Southern States has not yet been acted on.

Mr. C. D. Melton, appointed to prepare the credentials for the joint commissioner to Washington, was sworn to the strictest secrecy in regard to them.

The commissioners to-day go to Washington with full powers. They take a secretary with them, who is allowed $10 a day and his traveling expenses.

Members of the convention will attend church to morrow.

The convention has adjourned until Monday.

Matters at the South.

NORFOLK, Va., Dec. 24—3 P. M.

The secession feeling here is on the increase. Ashland Hall was again crowded with citizens last night. Disunion speeches were delivered by Col. V. D. Grover and Gen. Jno. Tylor. The speeches were enthusiastically applauded. Gen. Tyler concluded with the expression: "Let the Union go to hell!" which was received with loud and repeated cheers.

CHARLESTON, Dec. 24.

A company of eighty men arrived from Savannah yesterday, and tendered their services to the Governor of the State, in the name of the Minute Men, or Sons of the South.

MEMPHIS, Dec. 24.

Senator Johnson was burned in effigy Saturday evening.

From Pike's Peak.

FORT KEARNEY, Dec. 23.

The Pike's Peak express coach passed here at one o'clock this evening, leaving the following:

DENVER, Dec. 20.—Kelly, who was on trial for the murder of Doyle, was acquitted yesterday evening. The verdict gives much dissatisfaction.

Waters, on trial for the murder of Freeman, was found guilty, the jury being out but ten minutes. He was sentenced to be hung on Friday, the 20th.

The Kenosha mill, in the Nevada gulch, took out four cords of quartz recently—four hundred and forty-one dollars.

The weather continues pleasant. The Provincial Legislature has adjourned.

The Fugitive Slave Case in Toronto.

TORONTO, Dec. 22.

In the case of the fugitive slave Anderson, his counsel in Court of Queen's Bench today, gave notice of his intention to appeal from the decision of the Court. Chief Justice Robinson said there was no rule upon which an appeal could be claimed, but if the Court of Appeals chose to entertain the matter, the Queen's Bench would not oppose. The prisoner remains, in the meantime, at the disposal of the government, and will not be surrendered until all legal means have failed. The Court of Appeals does not sit until February.

New Counterfeit.

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 22

Sayes' National Bank Note Reporter cautions the public against new counterfeit 5's on the Merchants' Bank of St. Louis.—Vignette: negroes rolling a hogshead on the lower right corner; girl's head on the left corner.

The genuine 5's have the same vignette on the lower left corner, and boy's portrait on the right end. The plate is altered from counterfeit 10's on the same bank.

Senator Seward on Secession.

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.

At the banquet of the New England Society, last evening, Senator Seward made a speech. He made a half humorous and half serious speech about secession, and prophesied that South Carolina would be in the Union within sixty days. He occupied three-quarters of an hour.

Thurlow Weed, in an article in to-night's Journal, alludes to his recent visit to Springfield in the following terms:

"Since the newspapers have made our recent visit to Springfield the occasion of remark, it may not be improper to say that an interview with Mr. Lincoln has confirmed and strengthened our confidence in his fitness for the high position he is to occupy. Of his eminent qualifications for the great trust reposed in him; of his enlightened appreciation of the difficulties and dangers that surround us; of his desire that the Free States, if in anything delinquent, should fulfil their constitutional duties; of his determination to require from all the States an enforcement of the laws, and obedience to the Constitution; and, finally, of his earnest and inflexible devotion to the principles and sympathies of Republicans.

A NEW

Hoop and Rattan Machine!!

THE SUBSCRIBER HAS SUCCEEDED in producing Machines for the purpose of splitting and dressing Hoops. The principles developed in the Machines are admired by mechanics for simplicity, and durability, as well as the light power required to operate them, in consequence of the oscillating or vibrating motion of the Splitting Knife applied to opening the pole, with a perfect and simple arrangement for entering it, and requiring no alteration in splitting the smallest keg to large hogshead hoops, and is equally well adapted to splitting Rattans, Osiers, Willows and Basket Stuff. The machines have received the highest premiums at the late Fairs at Boston and Baltimore.

Parties wanting Machines we would refer to Mr. P. A. BASSET, of Baraboo, Wis., who has a set in operation.

The Great Western Railway traffic, for the week ending yesterday, is $36,500, being but a slight increase over the corresponding week of last year.

MONEY AND EXCHANGE AT CHICAGO.

The Tribune, of this morning, says:

Several of our bankers report a more active demand for currency. Large discounts have been made to reliable buyers, payable here. There is a new feature in the packing business, for bankers have heretofore been able to require payment in New York. The condition of the exchange market has determined operators to remain inactive, and hence large amounts of currency have lain in the vaults of the banks perfectly useless. There are indications to-day that the packers have carried their point, and all parties feel the better that business begins to move, though as yet, comparatively speaking, it is scarcely perceptible. The rates of discount, as far as they have transpired, are 10 ₩ cent.

Exchange is still close. The price to customers is 10 ₩ cent; and about 10½@11c to customers. We observe a more cheerful feeling and were not the large remittances of the 3d and 4th of January so near at hand, we should look for a decline next week. In other respects the demand is not so pressing.

Gold buying at 9, selling at 10 ₩ cent. Demand light.

The freighting business on the lines of our railways Eastward has become more active already, and should the European demand continue, we may look for lively times as soon as the holidays are over. Our four great Eastern lines are almost equal to almost any emergency. It is withal cheering to know that the West can honor drafts on her [for] flour, grain, pork, beef, lard and provisions of all kinds, to almost an unlimited extent, and still ask for more. Unless some unforeseen event should occur there are better times for the exchange market in store than not many weeks hence.

MONEY MATTERS IN NEW YORK.

The N. Y. World, of Thursday last, in its money article, has the following remarks upon the condition and prospects of financial affairs, and the grain and provision markets:

The money market is easy for call loans, and the increase of unemployed capital is inconvenient to many parties; it is impossible to place money with certain first class borrowers better than 6 ₩ cent; the general rates are from 6 to 7 ₩ cent. The market for business notes does not improve; transactions are limited at 12 to 18 ₩ cent. The receipt of about $830,000 in specie to-day by the Atlantic, making the total specie imports from England thus far about $1,150,000, and advices of about $1,000,000 more by the Persia, now due, have given more tone and confidence to the money market, than has existed since October. The facts of the exceeding strength of our commercial position are beginning slowly but surely to make themselves apparent to the public mind. Peremptory orders have been sent to Europe by to-day's steamer to ship specie from Europe to New York, and it is probable that the reserve of specie in the New York banks will accumulate to the large amounts held by them in 1859. The foreign exchange market is in a much more healthy condition. Large purchases of commercial bills have been made by bankers and other prominent buyers, and although there is no tendency to an advance in rates, yet the active rate of bills has stimulated the sales of produce, and adds an important item to our commercial strength and improvement. The grain and provision markets are steadily improving, in consequence of the better sale for sterling bills. The price of freight for wheat to London is reduced from 16d to 12½d, and there is a similar reduction to other European ports which favor foreign purchases of grain. The advance in the price of flour, from the lowest price during the panic, is 50c per bbl; on wheat 10c ₩ bu; and on corn 6c. The price of provisions has also materially advanced; The receipts of cotton at all the ports are about 400,000 bales less than for the same period last year; and, by the first week in January, it is estimated that the deficit will exceed 500,000 bales. The advance in the price of cotton in Liverpool is almost certain, after receipt of the news of this enormous falling off in receipts, and the thoroughly disorganized channels of trade in the South.

COMMERCIAL.

MONDAY P. M., Dec. 23, 1860.

The receipts of flour and grain here to-day, exclusive of the deliveries by teams have been from the following sources:

	Flour, bus.	Wheat, bus.	Oats, bus.	Corn, bus.	Bar'y, bus.	Rye, bus

Total	1,073	6,523	....	....	475	....

The receipts of dressed hogs to-day amount to 521 head. The market was very firm at Saturday's prices, packers paying a range of $5,00@5,75 for medium to heavy lots. We heard of a sale of 400 bbls mess pork for January delivery at $14,50, which does not indicate so much of an advance in the products as in hogs. The sale of "200 bbls at $17," in our last report, was a typographical error. It should have read, $14 ₩ bbl.

There was another important advance in wheat to-day. The market opened with ready buyers at 80@82c for No. 2 and No. 1 in store; sellers very firm.—On 'Change 81@83c were freely offered, and in one case 83@84c was paid for a couple of thousand bushels. The latter figures, however, were about 1 cent above the views of buyers at the close. In flour there was not so much tendency to advance; and we heard of only one sale, a lot of 200 bbls city made flour at $4,25; the brand not reported. No material change in other articles.

CHICAGO MARKET, DECEMBER 22.

Receipts at Chicago, yesterday, included 1,519 bbls flour, 10,862 bus wheat, 5,502 bus corn, 1,158 dressed and 5,484 live hogs. In reference to the market the Tribune says:

The wheat market to-day, under favorable Eastern and foreign advices, was active and buoyant, and prices advanced 1@1½c on yesterday's outside quotations. Some 61,000 bus changed hands at 50@51½c for No. 1; 74@75c for rejected No. 2, and 63c for No. 2. The market closing firm at 51c for No. 2, and 55c for No. 1 spring. Holders of flour advanced their views 5@10c, but buyers held back and transactions were limited. There was a fair inquiry for corn, and the market advanced 1@1½c; some 10,000 bus mixed sold 30@30½c. Oats quiet and unchanged. Rye a little more active. Barley quiet. The receipts of dressed hogs are large, and the market is quiet and less firm. Live hogs are firm and steady, with a good packing and shipping demand. Provisions steady. Hides a shade firmer, but without quotable change. Highwines more active.

CITY LAND OFFICE.

SIX THOUSAND ACRES OF DEEDED Farming Land in the State of Wisconsin—Lands selected and entered several years ago.

I am instructed by the owner to sell said lands at any price, and on such terms that any one, who has any spark of "Go Ahead," can secure for himself and family a home. Who should feel any more independent than the farmer. Of all occupations to create love and love for our country, agriculture is the best. It enables those who pursue it to live a fuller and freer independent life. It is less exposed to temptation. If the multitudes who are hard run to get bread would leave this and other pent up cities and occupy and improve the thousands of acres of fine land in our country, yet uncultivated, it would greatly enhance individual happiness and public good. Try it, ye starved ones.—If you are disappointed, then I am no prophet.—Call at my Land Office, and inquire about the lands I have for sale. CALEB WALL,

General Agent of Milwaukee.

MISCELLANEOUS.

THE AMALGAMATION OF LANGUAGES.—There is a growing tendency in this age to appropriate the most expressive words of other languages, and after a while to incorporate them into our own: thus the word Cephalic, which is from the Greek, signifying "for the head," is now becoming popularized in connection with Mr. Spalding's great Headache remedy, but it will soon be used in a more general way, and the word Cephalic will become as common as Electrotype and many others whose distinction as foreign words has been worn away by common usage until they seem "native and to the manor born."

'ardly Realized.

Hi 'ad 'n 'orrible 'eadache this hafternoon, hand I stepped into the hapothecaries hand says hi to the man "Can you hease me of an 'eadache?" "Does it hache 'ard," says 'e. "Hexceedingly," says hi, hand upon that 'e gave me a Cephalic Pill, hand 'pon me 'onor it cured me so quick that I 'ardly realized I 'ad 'ad an 'eadache.

HEADACHE is the favorite sign by which nature makes know any deviation whatever from the natural state of the brain, and viewed in this light it may be looked upon as a safeguard intended to give notice of disease which might otherwise escape attention, till too late to be remedied; and its indications should never be neglected. Headaches may be classified under two names, viz: Symptomatic and Idiopathic. Symptomatic Headache is exceedingly common and is the precursor of a great variety of diseases, among which are Apoplexy, Gout, Rheumatism and all febrile diseases. In its nervous form it is sympathetic of disease of the stomach constituting sick headache, of hepatic disease constituting bilious headache, of worms, constipation and other disorders of the bowels, as well as renal and uterine affections. Diseases of the heart are very frequently attended with Headaches; Anaemia and plethora are also affections which frequently occasion headache. Idiopathic Headache is also very common, being usually distinguished by the name of nervous headache, sometimes coming on suddenly in a state of apparently sound health and prostrating at once the mental and physical energies, and in other instances it comes on slowly, heralded by depression of spirits or acerbity of temper. In most instances the pain is in the front of the head, over one or both eyes, and sometimes provoking vomiting; under this class may also be named Neuralgia.

For the treatment of either class of Headache the Cephalic Pills have been found a sure and safe remedy, relieving the most acute pains in a few minutes, and by its subtle power eradicating the diseases of which Headache is the unerring index.

BRIDGET.—Missus wants you to send her a box of Cephalic Glue, no, a bottle of Prepared Pills,—but I'm thinking that's not just it naither; but perhaps ye'll be after knowing what it is. Ye see she's nigh dead and gone with the Sick Headache, and wants some more of that same as relieved her before.

Druggist—You must mean Spalding's Cephalic Pills.

Bridget—Och! sure now and you've sed it, here's the quarther and giv me the Pills and don't be all day about it aither.

Constipation or Costiveness.

No one of the "many ills flesh is heir to" is so prevalent, so little understood, and so much neglected as Costiveness. Often originating in carelessness, or sedentary habits; it is regarded as a slight disorder of too little consequence to excite anxiety, while in reality it is the precursor and companion of many of the most fatal and dangerous diseases, and unless early eradicated it will bring the sufferer to an untimely grave. Among the lighter evils of which costiveness is the usual attendant are Headache, Colic, Rheumatism, Foul Breath, Piles and others of like nature, while a long train of frightful diseases, such as Malignant Fevers, Abscesses, Dysentery, Diarrhoea, Dyspepsia, Apoplexy, Epilepsy, Paralysis, Hysteria, Hypochondriasis, Melancholy and Insanity, first indicate their presence in the system by this alarming symptom. Not unfrequently the diseases named originate in Constipation, but take on an independent existence unless the cause is eradicated in an early stage. From all these considerations it follows that the disorder should receive immediate attention whenever it occurs, and no person should neglect to get a box of Cephalic Pills on the first appearance of the complaint, as their timely use will expel the insiduous approaches of disease and destroy this dangerous foe to human life.

A Real Blessing.

Physician.—Well, Mrs. Jones, how is that headache?

Mrs. Jones—Gone! Doctor, all gone! the pill you sent cured me in just twenty minutes, and I wish you would send more so that I can have them handy.

Physician—You can get them at any Druggist's. Call for Cephalic Pills, I find they never fail, and I recommend them in all cases of Headache.

Mrs. Jones—I shall send for a box directly, and shall tell all my suffering friends, for they are a real blessing.

TWENTY MILLIONS OF DOLLARS SAVED.—Mr. Spalding has sold two millions of bottles of his celebrated Prepared Glue, and it is estimated that each bottle saves at least ten dollars worth of broken furniture, thus making an aggregate of twenty millions of dollars reclaimed from total loss by this valuable invention. Having made his Glue a household word, he now proposes to do the world still greater service by curing all the aching heads with his Cephalic Pills, and if they are as good as his Glue, Headaches will soon vanish away like snow in July.

OVER EXCITEMENT, and the mental care and anxiety incident to close attention to business or study are among the numerous causes of Nervous Headache. The disordered state of mind and body incident to this distressing complaint is a fatal blow to all energy and ambition. Sufferers of this disorder can always obtain speedy relief from these distressing attacks by using one of the Cephalic Pills whenever the symptoms appear. It quiets the overtasked brain, soothes the strained and jarring nerves, and relaxes the tension of the stomach which always accompanies and aggravates the disordered condition of the brain.

FACT WORTH KNOWING.—Spalding's Cephalic Pills are a certain cure for Sick Headache, Bilious Headache, Nervous Headache, Costiveness and General Debility.

GREAT DISCOVERY.—Among the most important of all the great medical discoveries of this age may be considered the system of vaccination for protection from Small Pox, the Cephalic Pill for relief of Headache, and the use of Quinine for the prevention of Fevers, either of which is a pure specific, whose benefits will be experienced by suffering humanity long after their discoverers are forgotten.

DID you ever have the Sick Headache? Do you remember the throbbing temples, the fevered brow, the loathing and disgust at the sight of food. How totally unfit you were for pleasure, conversation or study. One of the Cephalic Pills would have relieved you from all the suffering which you then experienced. For this and other purposes you should always have a box of them on hand to use as occasion requires.
